The dead:

Herbert Fairbairn, 6, Central City.

The children, together with five others, were in a car driven by Stanley Gress, 49, Central City farmer and father of Carolyn and Marlene. Mr. Gress was taking the children home from school.

Driver of the other car involved was George Winslade, 43, Omaha.

Safety Patrolman Allen Jensen, who investigated, said the accident occurred five miles north and five miles west of Central City on State Highway 92.

Winslade was headed east, and the Gress vehicle was going south across the highway at the time of the crash, the patrolman reported.

Listed in poor condition at a Grand Island hospital late Tuesday were Gress, suffering from lacerations on the head and a broken leg, and his daughter, Gaylnn, 5, who received a broken jaw and broken leg.

Also hospitalized at Grand Island were Harold Potter, 52, Omaha, passenger in the Winslade auto. His injuries included a broken arm, cuts on the face and shock. Winslade, also in a Grand Island hospital, received a broken left leg and a cut on the head.

The State Safety Patrol said Mr. Fairbairn and Mr. Gress had taken turns taking the children to school. Fairbairn took them Tuesday morning.

The accident scene was only a mile south of the rural school the Fairbairn and Gress children attended. Both families live on farms northwest of Central City.

The deaths raised the state's highway fatality toll to 299, comhighway fatality toll to 300, comtime.

Talk Flies On Special Unicameral

Session Unlikely For Any Reason

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Rumors about special sessions of the Legislature flew like drifting blizzard snow around the Capitol Tuesday, but no basis of fact could be found about any of them.

Some speculation was based on the statement of Sen. Earl Lee of Fremont on Monday. There was question as to whether he suggested a special session to investigate administration of state institutions by the Board of Control or to provide a constitutional amendment to abolish the board.

Sen. Lester Anderson of Aurora was in town and said he had received no inquiries pertaining to a special session for any purpose.

Another rumor had it that a special session would be called to act on LB 149, introduced by Sen. Otto Liebers of Lincoln, which the Attorney General later reported as unconstitutional. It provided for assessment on the basis of average annual inventories.

Concerned

Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington said that he was concerned as to whether he could be considered personally liable to affected taxpayers if he ordered assessments under the new law or if he ignored it and proceeded under the old law. He pointed out the old law was not repealed.

After consulting with his attorney, Herrington said that he planned to confer with Gov. Victor Anderson and recommend action in accord with the legal advice given him.

Many around the Statehouse considered a special session at this time useless. They argued that the courts should first be asked to rule and based on such opinion the Legislature would be in position to make needed changes eliminating unsound provisions and adding those the court held necessary.

Throughout all consideration of the tax situation, there was concern over the time available. The annual assessments are made in March and court procedures are necessarily deliberate and require time. Some questioned that a court decision could be obtained in time to call a special session before assessment starts.

Assured Of Test

There was complaint on the part of some senators that they were assured that a prompt test of the constitutionality of the law would be made and that they voted for the bill for that reason. Constitutionality was one of the questions raised at the time the Legislature considered the measure.

General sentiment was that all possible means should be taken to avoid a special session on any issue.

Sen. Amos Morrison of Mitchell had earlier attempted to get enough support to call a special session to consider the public power situation in the state. He found little support and interest in a special session does not appear to have increased since that time.

One senator remarked that he considered the problems of the Board of Control as purely administrative and in the hands of the governor. If the governor is dissatisfied, he can ask for Board members' resignations, he explained, and if the taxpayers are dissatisified with his action or failure to act, they can remove the governor.

Dick Awaits Ike's Word On Running

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon Tuesday was reported awaiting word from President Eisenhower on whether he'll run again before making any decision on entering Republican presidential preferential primaries.

Nixon had "no comment" on published reports he has informed friends he has no intention of entering primaries even if Eisenhower doesn't run.

From other sources it was learned, however, that he is keeping a watchful eye on political developments.

At this point, Nixon is regarded among many Republicans who do not believe Eisenhower will run again as the strongest potential contender for the 1956 GOP nomination.

On Ticket

Eisenhower has indicated if he does seek a second term he will want Nixon on the ticket with him.

There is divided opinion among Nixon's associates as to whether Nixon could make a stronger bid for the top nomination—if Eisenhower retires—by staying out of primary battles or by entering what would likely become a free-for-all contest.

Some of Nixon's friends argue that his best hope to top the ticket lies in getting an expression from Eisenhower favoring his No. 2 man for promotion. These associates say such an endorsement would far outweigh the results of primaries themselves.

Ex-AFL Unions Flock To Merged Labor Unit

NEW YORK (AP)—An increasing number of former AFL unions moved Tuesday to join the Industrial Union Department of the newly merged AFL-CIO-tending to water down CIO strength in the new department.

They included a million teamsters, machinists, boilermakers, bakery workers and laundry workers.

Possible opposition developed even to election of Walter Reuther, former CIO president, as head of the IUD, created primarily as a CIO home in the merged labor forces.

Dave Beck, president of the huge teamsters union, indicated he might support a rival candidate if one emerges.

These behind-the-scenes moves developed while outward harmony prevailed among the 1,400 delegates at the founding convention in the 71st Regiment Armory on Park Avenue.

To Defense

The convention was enlivened when a member of President Eisenhower's Cabinet rushed to the defense of the chief executive against criticism by Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell rallied to Eisenhower's support after Harriman hit at the President's conduct of foreign policy, particularly at Geneva.

In an emotion - packed voice, Mitchell departed from his prepared text to declare nobody has a more intense desire for peace than Eisenhower "because he knows the horrors of war."

"I want to say, please, please, let us not deter him, hamper him in his intense, continual quest for peace," Mitchell said.

Harriman, a potential Democratic candidate for president, had left the convention hall before Mitchell spoke.

While the speeches were going on, union activity reflected "growing pains" of the merged labor forces.

The old AFL already holds the two top positions in the AFL-CIO with George Meany as president and William Schnitzler as secretary-treasurer.

Reuther and James Carey, former secretary-treasurer of the CIO, had been slated for election without opposition as president and secretary of the IUD.

But Beck, irked by Carey's opposition to the teamsters moving as a body into the IUD, refused to say at a news conference whether he would support Reuther and Carey.

Meet Confused, But It's Really All Quite Clear

Delegates to the Alaska constitutional convention at Fairbanks were confused by the Nebraska state constitution, the Associated Press reported, but they needn't have been.

While studying the constitution of Nebraska, the only state with a unicameral (one-house) legislature, the committee on the legislative branch found this provision: "Impeachments can be achieved only through a two-thirds vote of both houses."

However, although the quotation was correct, the Unicameral amendment to the Nebraska constitution specifically vests in the Unicameral all powers formerly delegated to the House and Senate of the old two-house legislature.

School Bond Issue Fails At Waverly By Only 3 Votes

Lincoln Star Special

WAVERLY, Neb.—Waverly voters Tuesday failed by three votes to approve a school bond issue. The vote was 312 in favor, and 262 against, just three votes short of the necessary 55 per cent.

The $251,000 bond issue had been planned to construct an addition to the Waverly Consolidated School. Slated for construction, had the issue been approved, was a gymnasium-auditorium, vocational agriculture shop, office and classroom, music office and classroom, and hot lunch facilities.

Voters At Papillion OK School Bonds

PAPILLION, Neb. (AP)—Papillion voters by a 448 to 50 vote Tuesday approved a $145,000 bond issue for a new high school classroom building. A year ago a $250,000 issue for a high school and gymnasium-auditorium was turned down.

'No Trade' On Peace —Israel

Eden's Proposal Seems Doomed

WASHINGTON (INS) — Israel flatly informed Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Tuesday that she would never give up any of her territory to the Arabs in return for peace in the strife-torn Middle East.

The Israeli position was made plain to Dulles by Israel's foreign minister, Moshe Sharrett, in a 90-minute conference, after which Sharrett told newsmen that the refusal to cede territory is "irrevocable."

Meanwhile, Jerusalem dispatches said Egyptian and Israeli forces had clashed anew in the Gaza Strip.

Sharrett said he had asked Dulles to speed up a U. S. decision on Israel's request to buy American arms on cut-rate, easy-credit terms. The foreign Minister said he "got the impression" that the arms bid was "under very active consideration."

Proposal Doomed

The Israeli official's attitude appeared to doom the peace proposal advanced by British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, who has suggested some territorial concessions in the interest of a firm settlement of the Egypt-Israel border dispute.

The Foreign Minister declared that there is no substance in reports that prospects for an Arab-Israeli settlement are better than they were a few months ago.

"On the contrary," he said, "I see the possibility of things getting worse."

Sharrett added: "It is up to the Arab side. If there is willingness on the Arab side there certainly is a prospect of peace. But I have seen no signs of any such willingness."

Gov. Anderson Indicated Agreeable To Helping Wimberley In Getting Post

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP) — Rumors that M. L. Wimberley might be asked to return to the superintendency of the Boys Training School at Kearney, brought an indication Tuesday that such a move would be agreeable to the governor.

Tom Spence, Scotts Bluff County Young Republican Chairman, made public a letter from Gov. Victor Anderson offering the opinion that the Board of Control would be glad to assist Wimberley "in any way they can if and when he might want to go back into institutional work."

State Sen. Norman Otto of Kearney said Monday there is widespread demand in the Kearney area that Wimberley be urged to resume the post he held before he was given the superintendency of the Men's reformatory which he resigned recently.

Spence said he had been told by Gov. Anderson he might make public a letter dated Dec. 2 in which the governor said in part:

"I feel that the board feels deeply obligated to Mr. Wimberley for his fine service to the state and on two occasions asked him to reconsider his resignation.

"I know them to have only the very highest regard for Wimberley in appreciation for his 28 years of faithful service to the state of Nebraska, and it would be my opinion that the Board will do everything possible to assist him in any way they can if and when he might want to go back into institutional work," the governor's letter said.

Wimberley was on vacation Monday and could not be reached for comment.

Adenauer Calls Envoys Home For Talks

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Tuesday summoned home West German ambassadors from four continents for a toplevel conference on Russia's new cold war maneuvers.

Envoys from European countries, the United States, India and Egypt will meet here Thursday and Friday in the largest gathering of German diplomats since the Bonn Republic was set up.

The chancellor's sudden decision to pull 15 or more ambassadors into Bonn from their posts abroad reflected mounting concern here over the crucial cold war battle shaping up in the wake of the fruitless Geneva conference.

New Russ Move

It came as the Russians were disclosed to have handed over to the East Germans the control of barge traffic to isolated Berlin in what may be a bid to force recognition of the Communist regime from Bonn.

In West Germany, the Communists were launching a massive propaganda and infiltration campaign to undercut the authority of the Adenauer government and the Western Powers. This was part of their strategy of pulling all of Germany into the Soviet orbit.

Seek Public Opinion

Foreign Office officials said Adenauer and Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano want to sound out the ambassadors on how public opinion in the major nations is reacting to worsening East-West relations, and brief them on West German strategy for combatting the new Soviet moves.

They also want to discuss how to block recognition of Communist East Germany by neutral countries.

Bonn leaders are alarmed over the tightening of East Germany's trade ties with Egypt and India.

Chase Not Re-Election Candidate

OMAHA (AP) — Rep. Jackson B. Chase, Omaha, of the Second Congressional District, announced Tuesday night he will not seek re-election next year, but instead will run for district judge.

Chase served as a district judge in Omaha in 1954 but resigned to run for Congress to succeed Roman Hruska, Omaha, who ran for the U. S. Senate.

"It is only fair to make known my decision at this time so that any potential candidate interested therein might have ample time to shape their plans," Chase said in a statement. "And I am sure there are a number of well qualified citizens available for able and constructive service in this high office."

Chase said he enjoyed his first year as a freshman member of the House of Representatives and pledged to "do my best in serving during the ensuing year." He added that at no time did he or Mrs. Chase have in mind that he seek a permanent career as a member of Congress.

The statement said Chase hoped to "pick up my law books and seek my former position as a Judge of the District Court of the 4th Judicial District, as there will be one or more openings."

After issuing the statement, Chase departed for New Orleans where he will be for the next ten days attending a waterways hearing.

SEC. DULLES SEES RED HATE DRIVE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles Tuesday accused Russian leaders of trying to provoke India into using force in its quarrel with Portugal over the Portuguese colony of Goa.

Dulles told a news conference that Soviet Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev, the Communist party boss, appear to be using their tour of India, Burma and Afghanistan for the purpose of spreading hatred and prejudice.

He said it was to clear such a threatening atmosphere that he joined Portugal's Foreign Minister Paulo Cunha last Friday in decrying what Khrushchev and Bulganin have been saying.

Dulles said he still stands behind that statement, which has caused vehement Indian protests. But he emphasized the statement in no way takes sides between India and Portugal over Goa, the little territory on India's west coast.

Fresh Ammo

Many Western observers in India believe Dulles may have given the Russians fresh ammunition for the propaganda war with the statement. Goa is a very sore point with most Indians and one influential American businessman commented in Calcutta Tuesday: "Dulles couldn't have done anything more effective if he wanted to push the Indians further away from the West."

Khrushchev and Bulganin, in speeches in India last week, said Portugal's retention of Goa was a "shame toward civilized people." They said India has a "right to oust" the Portuguese.

The secretary said Friday's statement was carefully considered. All it does, he declared, is restate the traditional American opposition to the use of force in settling conflicting claims. He said it was aimed at the Russian statements, which seemed designed to create an atmosphere which would provoke the use of force.

Woman Burned When Stove Fires Apron

A 63-year-old Lincoln woman suffered third degree burns Tuesday afternoon when her apron apparently caught fire while she was preparing dinner.

Flames were beat out from the dress of Mrs. Horace D. Wilborn of 1619 No. 28th by a neighbor after Mrs. Wilborn ran from her house for help. The neighbor, Mrs. Glenn O. Jourdan of 1627 No. 28th, told police she heard no explosion. The Fire Department was not called.

Mrs. Wilborn was taken by ambulance to Bryan Memorial Hospital, where she was reported in fair condiiton. The burns were confined to the front of her body.

Mrs. Jourdon told police she later checked the Wilborn home and discovered a high flame burning under a pot of potatoes on the stove. Part of the burning apron was found in the backyard of the Wilborn home.

Det. Clarence Schwarz theorized Mrs. Wilborn was preparing dinner when she turned her back to the stove.

The apron bow apparently caught fire and the flames spread to the front of the apron, Schwarz said. The blaze spread to the rest of the dress when Mrs. Wilborn ran across the backyard for help.

Churchill Is Made One Of Red Boss' Targets

RANGOON, Burma (AP) —Burma and Russia reaffirmed in a joint communique Tuesday night their support of Red China's claim to Nationalist China's Formosa island stronghold.

This development was accompanied by a fresh oral barrage against the West by Soviet Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev. This time, Khrushchev included Sir Winston Churchill among his targets.

The communique signed by Premiers Nikolai Bulganin and U Nu was issued as the Soviet visitors prepared to wind up their official visit to Burma. In addition to its stand on Formosa, the statement called for an unconditional ban on mass destruction weapons and unification of Indochina and Korea.

Khrushchev continued his running attacks on the West in two speeches Tuesday. Addressing a crowd of Rangoon University students Tuesday night, he said:

"They Are Trembling"

"Some Europeans are accustomed to living off Asia. They are trembling because the population of Asia is against them. And we feel joy that they are trembling."

Prophesying that the days of capitalism are approaching their end, Khrushchev said the Communist system will win "because it is the only progressive system in the world.

He continued, "We are approaching Communism without war. Wars can only harm us. Ideas cannot be stopped by rifles."

In an earlier speech at a political rally here, the Soviet Communist party leader attacked "colonialism" and Western economic and military defense undertakings in southeast Asia and the China area.

Hits at Britain

Again making British journalists a part of his forum, Khrushchev asked why they felt offended when some "facts" of the past were recalled. He said Russia never had waged war on Britain but that the British had engaged the Russians at Sevastopol in the Crimean War.

A little later Khrushchev referred to "the notorious directive" he said Churchill issued in the closing days of World War II to Field Marshal Lord Montgomery to stack captured German arms for reissue to German prisoners for use against the Russians if their advance into Western Europe continued.

Order Was Given

Churchill disclosed in a speech at Woodford, Eng., Nov. 23, 1954 that he had sent such an order to Montgomery. Later in the House of Commons the then prime minister explained:

"In those days of victory, the thought which filled my mind was that all the efforts we had made to free Europe from a totalitarian regime of one kind might go for naught if we allowed so much of Europe to fall into the grip of another totalitarian regime from the East."

GM Dealers Given Five-Year Contracts

Charges Are Met Promptly

...BY AUTO MAKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—General Motors, acting to meet charges that it has been highhanded with its retail auto dealers, Tuesday lengthened its franchise agreements with them. The agreements will now run for five years instead of one.

A Senate subcommittee had heard testimony that the short term agreement was a threat hanging over the dealers. Several dealers testified their contracts had been canceled abruptly on GM complaints they hadn't sold enough cars or had not handled their business the way the higher-ups preferred. Some retailers also said they were put under pressure to accept models and accessories they did not want.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of the huge manufacturing corporation, announced the new move at the resumption of Senate hearings which he said had produced "misleading" testimony and left the public "grossly misinformed."

All Are Notified

He said all 17,000 GM car and truck dealers are being notified that, barring any objection on their part, current sales agreements will be extended to 1960. The dealers, he added, may pull out at any time on 30 days' notice.

Curtice said as a result of publicity given statements made to the Senate's Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee he felt "impelled to do what I have not considered necessary heretofore—namely, to formalize a long-term relationship with our dealers, which for all practical purposes has been in effect in General Motors for many years."

His announcement was received with mild approval—and reservations—by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), who has been conducting the hearings, and Frederick J. Bell, executive vice president of the National Automobile Dealers Assn.

O'Mahoney congratulated Curtice for what he described as "compliance with a suggestion I made." But he said the longer sales agreements would not solve other complaints the subcommittee has heard.

U.N. SEAT DEADLOCK UNBROKEN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Philippines and Yugoslavia fought through eight more ballots Tuesday to another draw in the U.N. Assembly for a seat on the Security Council.

The Assembly president, Jose Maza, of Chile, discouraged by the frustrating performance of the delegates, warned he would call a nonstop session of the Assembly to reach a decision if necessary. He said a "grave situation has developed."

Britain, U.S. Split

The United States is backing the Philippines, Britain, the Soviet Union and virtually all of Europe are backing Yugoslavia on the ground that the seat in question, held by Turkey, belongs to Eastern Europe. The voting showed that the United States and Britain remain seriously split on this issue.

Educator Says Gifted Children Need Attention

A nationally known educator said in Lincoln too little attention is being paid for educating of gifted children.

Dr. Viola Cassidy of Ohio State University said there is a definite waste of potential material in gifted children being passed up by modern educators. She said more recognition should be given for advancing them in accord with their abilities.

Speaking before a faculty group of the Teachers College at the University of Nebraska, Dr. Cassidy related that recognition of gifted children often is a problem both for parents and teachers.

One of the greatest misconcepts today, Dr. Cassidy said, is for the general public to believe that gifted children always are the ones with thick glasses, books under their arms, and stooped shoulders.

She said signs of unusual capabilities, such as early language use and unusual physical growth, should be recognized.

She said the contrary is true, that gifted children generally mature more rapidly than children in the medium intelligence ranges.

The future welfare of the nation will be determined, in part, on recognizing and providing special educational facilities to children who have the capabilities to move ahead at a faster rate, she said.

Gifted children need help, she said, just as much as mentally retarded children need help.

Mrs. Cassidy was introduced at the meeting by Dr. Madison Brewer, head of the Elementary Education Department at the University.

68-Mile Winds Hit Seattle Area

SEATTLE (AP) — Winds up to 68 miles per hour lashed Puget Sound Tuesday. Two men were missing, vessele were sent to cover and many trees and utility poles were toppled in the Seattle area.

An overturned outboard boat, believed to be the one in which the two men had been fishing, was found near Tacoma. A combined air and water search failed to reveal any trace of the men.

The gusty gales sent small vessels scurrying for cover on Puget Sound.

The wind toppled trees and utility poles all over the Seattle area. Several cars were damaged.

Tax Chief 'On Leave' In Chicago

...During Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ernest J. Sauber was taken off his job as director of Internal Revenue Service at Chicago Tuesday while the government investigates charges against him. The nature of the charges was not announced.

Sauber, an internal revenue career man, was handed a "letter of charges" during a half-hour conference with the agency's new commissioner, Russell C. Harrington.

An IRS spokesman said Sauber had been put on leave but declined to discuss any details of the charges or where they originated. Sauber likewise refused to comment.

The 48-year-old official was promoted to his $12,900 a year post, supervising IRS activities for 26 northern Illinois counties, in 1952. He reportedly has close ties with the Chicago Democratic organization and rumors circulated that he has aroused the displeasure of Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill).

An aid to Dirksen said, however, he was sure the senator had nothing to do with the IRS act and expressed doubt that Dirksen knows Sauber.

Newsmen were told by an IRS spokesman merely that Sauber "is on administrative leave pending consideration of matters concerning his operation of the revenue office in Chicago." He will continue to draw salary.

Blast, Fire Kills Five Young Sisters

BENTON, Ill. (AP)—An explosion and fire destroyed the three-room dwelling of a family of 10 Tuesday taking the lives of five young sisters trapped inside.

The mother and another daughter suffered critical burns and attendants at a Benton hospital gave them only a "fair" chance of survival.

Two boys in the family escaped along with their 78-year-old grandfather.

The victims were daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Wingo. The parents are separated.

Twins

They were identified as Nancy, 15, Neva June, 10, Marla, 7, and twins Carolyn and Marolyn, 5.

Coroner Barney Browning said the charred bodies of the five girls were found huddled on a single bed in the room where they slept a their mother, Ruby, 43, and other sister, Agnes, 14.

Firemen said the probable source of the explosion and fire was a coal stove in the room where the girls' bodies were found.

ONE-VACCINE SHOT PROGRAM GETTING STUDY

WASHINGTON (INS) — Polio experts meet in Washington Wednesday to consider whether "faster progress" can be made against the crippling disease by giving more youngsters a single dose of Salk vaccine.

The Public Health Service announced Tuesday the experts will discuss giving more persons "some immunity" through one injection instead of concentrating on the present three-dose schedule.

Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the vaccine, will be at a meeting, which will include representatives of the Public Health Service, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and other health groups.

A number of scientists feel that the Salk vaccine gives substantial protection against paralytic polio with the first shot, and that while supplies are short the three-dose schedule should be postponed.

Ministers Hold Meeting With Pen Officials

Representatives of various religious denominations met at the Nebraska State Penitentiary to make plans for a greater religious program at the institution.

The ministers were informed of the present institution religous programs and encouraged to visit members of their faith regularly.

The ministers were told that the institution expects them to visit the institution regularly, to encourage men to attend all services offered, to work with families of the men confined whenever possible, to discuss the man with the Classification Board, to encourage religious study by mail and to remember to "take Christ to the fallen."

From the institution they were told they could expect an interest in a strong religious program, an open door and an understanding that religion is an important matter in the rehabilitation program.

Resignation Seen

LONDON (INS) — A number of Laborite members of Parliament said they expect former Prime Minister Clement Attlee to announce his resignation as leader of the Labor Party Thursday night.

Attlee refused to comment on reports of his impending resignation.

TV's Eye Trained On Death Trial

WACO, Tex. (AP)—A bereaved husband testified in a quivering voice Tuesday in 54th District Court and before a television audience how his wife died in an auto bomb blast.

Harry Weaver, 60, a graying, stocky man, said Harry L. Washburn, the man on trial, was the first suspect he named after "a terrible explosion" killed the wealthy ranchwoman at San Angelo, Tex., last Jan. 19.

First Televised

Washburn, 39, Houston businessman, is being tried here in what probably is the first murder trial ever televised live. A TV camera in the balcony and microphones at the witness stand and bench record the proceedings for station KWTX-TV here. The station carried the entire proceedings Tuesday.

Spectator benches were only about half-filled during the morning session. Officials said some probably stayed away to watch the trial on their TV sets.

Trash Haulers Oppose City Dumping Fee

Some 43 of Lincoln's garbage collectors — about 75 per cent of the licensed haulers — oppose the proposed fee for trash dumping, which is under study by a special City Council committee.

The opposition was expressed in a letter which members of the committee will receive Wednesday from the United Garbage Association.

The association's letter referred to a proposal that city dumps charge a fee in order to make the trash areas self sustaining. The matter is currently under study by Councilmen Hugh Thorne and Joe Fenton for the Council.

In the same communication, the trash haulers said they had no objection to the proposed new dump site in the Capitol Beach area.

The United group's letter was signed by its attorney, William L. Walker, and by President Leo P. Carter and Treasurer George Dering. It listed 43 collectors as members and said they unanimously turned down the proposal. The letter said a raise, if effected, would "compel a general rate raise from the established rate of $1.50 for two pick-ups each week."

The costs of scales for weighing trash, fencing and supervisory personnel were also cited in opposition to the plan.

The letter said United's stand was voted on at its November meeting.

Ike Gives Helping Hand To Blind Veteran And Wife

President Forgets His Own Illness

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (INS)—President Eisenhower forgot his own illness Tuesday to give a helping hand to a blind veteran who fought under his command in World War II.

The soldier-hero is 32-year-old Robert Johnson, who after spending four years in the Valley Forge Hospital after the end of the war, now lives near Gettysburg and is struggling to make a living for himself and wife by weaving provincial rugs.

Tuesday, at the President's express request, White House news secretary James C. Hagerty took special pains at a heart-warming press conference to let the world know that Johnson and his wife, also handicapped, are very special people and are living examples of how American enterprise works.

Johnson was blinded by a mortar blast at the Battle of Saarbrucken. His wife, Betty, is herself completely blind.

Used In Home

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, learning of the veteran's struggle, have encouraged him by purchasing rugs that are now being used in the new presidential home on the farm near Gettysburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower also have told their friends the story of the Johnsons' valiant and uncomplaining battle for livelihood. Friends of the President and first lady have bought the products of their hand loom.

Hagerty told a news conference about the Johnsons by announcing he had "a rather unusual little story that Mrs. Eisenhower and the President asked me to tell you about."

He said the President and first lady heard about the couple through people in Gettysburg. Asked if the veteran and his wife were having a hard struggle, Hagerty replied: "Yes."

Photographers

And when he was asked whether the Johnsons had been warned they might have a flock of photographers descending on them after the news conference, Hagerty smiled and said: "The answer to that is yes."

Before trying their hand at rug-weaving, the Johnsons went into the chicken raising business.

Mrs. Eisenhower first heard of the couple sometime ago and encouraged them by buying eggs for her farm home.

But the egg venture failed to prosper, so the Johnsons turned to rug-weaving.

It was through Mrs. Eisenhower that the President first heard of the plight of the veteran and his wife, and was inspired by the story of their brave struggle despite their physical handicaps.

Impressed

Hagerty said: "The President and Mrs. Eisenhower want to do everything they can to help them.

"They have been greatly impressed by their courage and of course the President has a soft spot for a veteran."

Johnson served with the 70th Infantry during World War II.

When newsmen went to the Johnsons, they found the veteran hard at work on a hand loom in the attic of their new cottage, with his wife helping him.

They were weaving a blue cotton rug for Mrs. Eisenhower, one of seven she has ordered.

Supply Rugs To Eisenhowers

Bob and Betty Johnson, his wife, work at a loom in Gettysburg make rugs for the Eisenhowers' farm home. Bob, who had most of his face shot away and blinded while serving under Eisenhower in World War II, received an unprecedented plug for their home industry from the President. Mrs. Johnson is also blind. (AP Wirephoto).

Blame Salicylate Poisoning For Woman's Death

OMAHA (AP)—Acting Coroner George Sullivan has reported that the death of a 24-year-old woman who became ill while eating in a local restaurant Sept. 28 was attributed to "Salicylate poisoning."

He said a pathologist's report said it could be caused by "an aspirin-like drug which the patient was apparently taking. "The report noted that some persons have less tolerance for drugs than others. No indication of food poisoning was found, the report stated.

Fort Robinson Museum Work About To Begin

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press Writer

The job of making a tourist attraction out of historic old Fort Robinson in western Nebraska is about to get under way.

Bids will be opened here Dec. 13 on remodeling and refurbishing the post headquarters building as the site for a new historical museum, Secretary James C. Olson of the State Historical Society said Tuesday.

Some time later, either this month or the first part of next year, the State Game Commission will call for bids on remodeling barracks and officers quarters for tourist facilities. A license from the U. S. Department of Agriculture to make the necessary improvements was received only last week, Secretary Paul Gilbert of the State Game Commission reported.

Appropriation Made

The last Legislature appropriated $130,644 to enhance the attractiveness to tourists of the old Indian war cavalry outpost, which the University of Nebraska, in co-operation with the Agriculture Department, has been using for cattle breeding research

Backers envisioned the 22,000-acre fort as a stopping off place for tourists en route to Yellowstone Park.

One bill appropriated $94,000 for the Game Commission to use in developing tourist accomodations. Another bill supplied $36,644 for development of the museum by the Historical Society.

Roger Grange, curator for the museum-to-be, has been on the job in Lincoln since Sept. 1. Exhibits are being prefabricated in Historical Society shops here for shipment to the museum later.

To Open June 1

Grange himself is expected to move out to Fort Robinson in the spring and Olson said it is tentatively planned to open the museum on or about next June 1.

The bid opening next week will cover improvements to the museum building itself plus some minor repairs to the building which will serve as the curator's residence.

Improvements to be made at the post headquarters building will include lighting changes, removal of temporary partitions, replacement of certain doors, creation quarters for a custodian in the basement and some redecorating. No basic changes to the building or its outside appearance are involved.

Work On Cabinets

Display cases for the museum are being manufactured by prison industries at the State Penitentiary, Olson said.

More than half of the initial $36,644 appropriation will go toward salaries, operating expenses and supplies.

Hickenlooper's Hog Remedy

Senator Bourke Hickenlooper, Republican, Iowa, has made a proposal calculated to spare the farmer the worst blows from the collapsed hog market.

The senator would provide a federal bonus of $5 to $7.50 per hundred pounds for the marketing of bred sows and gilts. The purpose is twofold. It would bolster the present surplus-ridden market and award the farmer a price consistent with his cost. It would also get rid of a substantial number of producers of next year's crop of pigs and reduce the threat of future surpluses.

The senator's plan is provocative in that it relieves a present crisis and guards against a future one, and it is a piece of direct action. But it has a curious similarity to the pig disposal plan attempted in 1933 by Democratic Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace. Wallace went after a hog surplus on a buying and slaughter plan to cushion the farmer from loss and at the same time to assure low production in 1934. The hitch was that the destruction of hogs aroused a storm of protest and was the target for an effective bombardment by Republicans. If history is to re-enact the drama it is all set up except the role of the effective critic, which in this instance would have to be the Democratic party.

Whether Hickenlooper's proposal gains momentum or dies is one thing, and its effectiveness is another. But it is afflicted with the same ailment that has blighted so many proposals that have been touched by political partisanship. It is not what is said but who said it that seems to count.

Something Concrete

Veteran State Senator Earl J. Lee, of Fremont, put a finger squarely on the weakness of all this talk about getting rid of the Nebraska State Board of Control, which now has responsibility for the administration of 17 state institutions, including three mental hospitals, the penitentiary and the state reformatory.

Suggesting the possibility of a special session of the legislature to give consideration to a constitutional amendment revising the Board of Control system, Lee said the session should not be called "unless something concrete is offered." Truer and more timely words could not be spoken. All that adds up to at this time is a lot of talk, critical of the board discussion and of the board's handling of some institutions under its jurisdiction, but that is as far as it goes.

No one has come up with a suggestion of a substitute for the Board of Control. We doubt that Nebraskans want to toss these institutions back in the lap of the governor.

Senator Lee seems to be concerned mainly with the loss of key personnel.

There is another matter which should concern him and his legislative colleagues. We have no idea how much operating costs of the state institutions under the board have been increased in recent months but clearly it runs into a lot of money. Nebraskans expect the legislature to have something to say about the amount of money to be spent in the maintenance and operation of these institutions, a field infinitely more suited to legislature concern than the personnel which constitutes the staff of these institutions.

Russia Pinned To Fact

Russia's transfer of administrative control of Berlin barge lines to East Germany's Communist government understandably brings reactions of misgiving on the part of West Germany and the Western allies.

It stimulates visions of a squeeze play similar in nature to Russia's earlier closing of the Berlin corridor. Memories of America's airlift to West Berlin which broke the resulting food and fuel crisis demonstrates the power that lies hidden in transportation control, especially when control of West Berlin is the prize.

Modern times has yet to produce a Russian gift pure in character, and control of the Berlin waterways runs true to form. Russia has given away nothing because it possesses the satellite government that now seems to have acquired greater home rule. No one doubts but that East Berlin decisions in respect to barge transportation will conform precisely to Moscow wishes. And in this case the desires of Moscow are not greater sovereignty for East Germany but for Western acknowledgement of a Russian upper hand in all of Germany. East Germany is but a shield in the power play.

While France and the United States have not clarified their position on this latest transaction, Great Britain has given it realistic treatment. It acknowledged that the exchanges between the Russian master and its satellite must be accepted as de facto. But it refused to relieve Moscow of any responsibility for subsequent decisions and actions of the satellite East German government. Such a position strips the maneuver to the core of reality and destroys whatever gain may have been anticipated from pretense.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Up at Huron, South Dakota, last Friday more than 300 rural electric officials from all parts of the state adopted a resolution without so much as a single dissenting vote asking for a Missouri Valley Authority to develop and manage the Missouri Basin resource program. It was one of many significant developments of recent months contributing to the uncertainties of national conservation policy.

★

South Dakota is staunchly Republican, veering rarely from its recognized orthodox Republicanism. Generally its rural areas have been a stronghold of Republican party support. So here is impressive evidence that slowly developing water policy on a national scale, of such prime importance, is not a matter of partisan politics. It can and does cut squarely down the center to divide the political parties themselves. A later resolution approved by the same group called upon Republican Sen. Francis E. Case to support an MVA, and stop the shameful waste of water downstream if he (Case) really was interested in doing something for all the power-users in South Dakota. Case had been under fire recently by the rural electric groups and two farm organizations in South Dakota for fathering a proposal which the three groups charge will destroy traditional preference for public bodies in the sale of power from the Big Bend Dam. The Missouri River States Committee at the same time was commended for withdrawing support for an interstate compact. "After years of study and effort," the resolution said, the Missouri River States Committee has to its credit recognized the folly and futility of attempting to achieve necessary co-ordination for the basin through the route of interstate compact. If there is to be any appreciation of just how confused and muddied the waters are, Presidential Aide Sherman Adams in Washington was addressing a group 72 hours later on the partnership idea of national water policy. Adams emphasized the importance of local contributions and local control, with Uncle Sam playing only an incidental role, the exact opposite of an authority program, and a direct rejection of the position taken by the South Dakota rural leaders.

Staunch In Its Faith

The issue will come to a head shortly after the first of the year. At that time a House committee will conduct hearings on legislation authorizing administration of the Missouri Basin through compacts entered into between states. That is the program referred to by the South Dakota rural districts and also by the Missouri River States Committee. We doubt that any Missouri Basin state has a greater interest in this compact program than Nebraska.

★

The partnership idea which has become associated with the Eisenhower administration makes for such pleasing conversation. That is really what it is—conversation—starting nowhere—leading nowhere—and in the end, getting nowhere. It sounds good to talk about sitting down at a table and dividing the water of a stream equitably between the interested states. The only thing is that it simply does not work out that way. It never has and it never will. Among the basin states, Nebraska's filings for irrigation water reach back to an earlier date than most of those in neighboring basin states. We have been at it longer. And we have made greater progress than these other states. It is impossible to say what industrial needs will be 25 or 50 years hence, much more impossible to project future irrigation development. But unless there is an awakening we shall have a compact for division of the waters of the Missouri River—a compact which, once saddled off on us, will measure Nebraska development for a long time to come, not only in expansion of irrigation but industrial growth possibly.

Final Say Is Necessary

Someone in times of shortage of water has to occupy the position of being able to say how it shall be used. That is, in its essence, authority, and from the very nature of the program itself, there is no escape from authority unless there are to be continuing cross-purposes and confusion.

Not Badly Off

Those who keep track of the national product say that Americans will consume 161 pounds of meat per capita during 1955. That is just about all they can hold.

They also are surrounded by plentiful supplies of all other food, oceans of milk, mountains of vegetables and more bread than they know what to do with. What is more the coming year will be no less abundant. Food simply is not a problem.

It is unique in a world which mostly cudgels its brow over shortages and fears of famine that the United States is worrying urgently over what to do with an oversupply. And those who would attack production in a love of scarcity should be reminded that one can worry in comfort and security over too much which is a much preferable station to one of worrying about not having enough food to assure future worrying about anything.

In all that may be done to curb food production and to lessen the producers it should always be remembered that a little surplus is a mighty wondrous thing.

One For The Book

Colorado authorities captured an armless driver doing 106 miles an hour. This establishes some sort of a first. Other states have caught a legion of headless drivers going anywhere from 60 to 110 miles an hour, but they just don't make armless drivers that good very often any more.

Dewey's Fine Hand Seen In GOP Plans

WASHINGTON — There's more than meets the eye behind Leonard Hall's cheerful optimism that President Eisenhower will run again. The bald, bland Republican national chairman took his cue, not from Ike but from New York's Tom Dewey.

Here are the behind-the-scenes developments:

1. This column can report positively that Hall didn't even discuss a second term with Ike at Gettysburg. Hall had talked about it earlier, however with Dewey.

2. Assistant President Sherman Adams and Attorney General Herbert Brownell also consulted with Dewey about Ike's re-election. They agreed to come as close to declaring him in the race as they could without making the announcement for him. The President did not indicate to them he would run. They convinced him, however, that he will have trouble pushing his legislative program through Congress unless he gave hints of remaining boss for another four years.

3. Hall did his level best to convince GOP national committeemen, meeting in Chicago last week, that Ike would be the party's candidate again in 1956. Significantly, this idea was given impetus behind closed doors by another Deweyite, Mrs. Charles Weis of New York. In charge of arrangements for the Republican Convention, she advised her subcommittee to plan on a short convention with only one nomination—Eisenhower's.

DEWEY'S SECRET HAND

4. Some committeemen didn't swallow the Ike-will-run propaganda, notably ex-National Chairman Guy Gabrielson and ex-Kansas Senator Harry Darby. They spread word that it was ridiculous to expect Ike to run again. Privately, some suspected the whole idea might be a holding action by the Dewey forces to stop a build-up for any other candidate. This would give Dewey more time to get his own machine rolling—if Ike should decide the last minute to retire.

The subject of Ike's running, however, didn't even come up during his visit with the GOP chairman. Hall simply reported to the president on party finances. He told Ike that his heart attack had stimulated Republican contributions.

GOP FINANCES BETTER

Before his illness, the national committee had collected only 50 per cent of its $2,160,410 quota. Collections shot up to 88 per cent, Hall told Ike, after the shocking news of his heart attack. Hall also reported the committee expects to raise another $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 from a series of "Salute To Eisenhower" $100-a-box luncheons on Jan. 2.

Aside from the financial discussion, Ike and Len spent the rest of their time reminiscing about the 1952 campaign. Not a word was said about the President's political plans or the timing of his announcement.

CHICAGO-GO-ROUND

Speeches by GOP leaders at the Chicago Republican rally will be echoes by lesser politicians throughout the coming campaign. GOP national committeemen were instructed to take the speeches home and use them as basic campaign material . . . Secretary of Agriculture Benson took time out from the GOP meetings to visit Chicago's International Livestock Exposition. He whacked one fat hog approvingly on the rump, and was told by the owner that the hog brought $20 a hundred pounds at auction. "I wish all of them would sell that high," replied Benson wistfully.

D-Y Deal Haunts Administration

WASHINGTON — The cancelled Dixon-Yates contract assumed its 1956 campaign shape on Monday when the veteran Wyoming senator, Joseph C. O'Mahoney, fixed his deep-set eyes on Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis Strauss and proclaimed with deep emotion:

"You have been deceiving the President as well as the public. The AEC the Budget Bureau, yes and Sherman Adams and Jim Hagerty, all of you have hurt the country very seriously. You should not have allowed your President to be put in the position of not knowing what went on in his own house."

Chairman Strauss, quivering with rage, kept his voice under control as he defended his honor and his record as a public servant. But he refused to yield an inch of his claim that all his White House conversations about Dixon-Yates were "privileged" under the doctrine of separation of powers and that he need not say what he did and said there.

It was the climax of tense hours in which O'Mahoney built up the picture of a puppet President who repeatedly ordered full disclosure of all the facts about Dixon-Yates but could not seem to enforce his decision.

The AEC repudiated Dixon-Yates on the ground that it was worked out in violation of the "conflict of interest" statutes. The supposed offender is Adolph Wenzell, a New York banker, who while a consultant with the Budget Bureau, conferred with Dixon on the contract financing. The terms were later handled by Wenzell's then employer, the First Boston Corporation, which declined a fee.

O'Mahoney recalled that the President ordered a "complete chronology" of the contract — which omitted Wenzell's name when it was released to the public. He read the President's later assurances to reporters that "Dixon-Yates is an open book; you can go to the Budget Bureau and the AEC and get all the facts."

"Yet you plead technicalities," O'Mahoney said scornfully. "I suggest you go back to your office and pray over your decision."

Whatever its legal status, the "privilege" claimed by Strauss, Budget Director Hughes and the Securities and Exchange officials involved, puts them in the position of seeming to shield secrets. In their effort to protect someone — the President, Adams or whoever it may be — they are exacerbating the issue they would fervently like to bury.

As nature abhors a vacuum so in this capital secrets invite investigation. The probable result of the privilege now being claimed, if it is adhered to, will be a Senate resolution calling for a special prosecutor to unearth all the facts in the Dixon-Yates story.

Lacking all the facts, no one has yet managed to put the President in perspective on Dixon-Yates except as O'Mahoney sought to do it in his examination of Strauss. That is the way the issue will go into the campaign next year unless it is altered by events.

Pearl Harbor Was Fourteen Years Ago

NEW YORK — People . . . Places . . Things . . .

And where were You when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor 14 years ago?

We have since learned where the Japanese bombing pilots were, before the strike. They were steaming south and east through generally fine weather the day before and they knew they had nothing to fear. They were listening to a football broadcast from Honolulu, where all obviously was blissful ignorance!

I was covering a football game at the Polo Grounds between the New York Giants and Ace Parker, a great player handicapped by a bad heel and the rest of the Brooklyn Dodgers grid team. I sat next to Jack Singer. "Those Japs must be nuts," he said.

Singer of the Journal-American and INS was to become one of the first, if not the first, U.S. war correspondent killed in the Pacific. He went down with the torpedoed carrier U.S.S. Wasp a day or two after filing one of the war's most dramatic eye-witness stories: his participation in a low-level torpedo plane attack on a Jap carrier. His description of the sheet of flame that spewd from the side of the stricken Jap ship, as his torpedo struck, prompted him to write a line that was typical of his flair. Jack wrote:

"That's one fire LaGuardia won't attend!"

Douglas Storer's Christmas cards this year are being sent from Santa's home town—Demre, Turkey. There, more than 1600 years ago, Saint Nicholas (which became San Neekolas, which became Sannee Klas, which became Santa Claus) was born and reared. He became bishop of the ancient seaport of Myra and was known for his gifts, many of them made by his own hand.

The Republic of Turkey, at Storer's request, has issued a special stamp for the occasion. But collectors, who are not on Storer's mailing list will have to buy the stamp at the official post office, Antalya, Turkey.

Last year's Christmas card from Storer came from Cap Haitien, Haiti, where Columbus celebrated the first Christmas in the new world. The special Haitian stamp for that one featured a reproduction of an actual drawing by Chris of Fort Navidad, built from the remains of the wrecked Santa Maria.

MARQUIS CHILDS

India On The March

CALCUTTA — An observer passing through this complex country who presumes to pass any final judgments must be brash, indeed. There is only one thing that seems certain and even that may be an illusion. The Indian people are going somewhere, they are on the march, they are bound to bring by some means or another change to a part of the world that has for so long lived in the frame of ancient tradition and custom.

The ferment is visible in the outpouring that has greeted Khrushchev and Bulganin as they moved from one part of India to another.

Perhaps not one in a thousand or one in ten thousand has any very clear idea of who these two men are. But they somehow understand that for India, for their province or their city, this is an honor a tribute, and they are proud. They are proud, too, of the show they have put on of the enormous crowds, of the bunting and the flags, and even of the crude flattery spread by the Soviet team as it echoes down to the masses.

What does this visit and the great outpouring mean for the future? In the cynical and, from the Western perspective, hopeful view, it is merely a political show that will soon be forgotten.

In the Calcutta area free transportation was offered to everyone within a 50-mile radius of the city. For people whose lives hold so very little this was a dazzling opportunity. It was a public holiday.

But in a more serious view this performance in every corner of India has done two things. First, in the popular mind it has identified Russia as the friend of the Indian people ready to share with them, as Khrushchev put it, the last crust of bread. Second, it has given the Communist party, which had been on the run, a respectability and a status it never had before.

In the cities—Bombay, Calcutta, and Madras—this last may be very important, for it is in the cities that Communism can breed and grow.

In the last general election in West Bengal, of which Calcutta is the capital, 15 per cent of the total vote was Communist. That is believed to have declined recently, similar to the sharp fall in the Communist vote shown in elections held in South India.

But there are, at an informed guess, one million unemployed in Calcutta Up to a half-million refugees from Pakistan sleep in the streets every night, with no facilities for living of any kind except the streets. The number of refugees is being increased by about 20,000 a month in a city believed to be already above the five-million mark.

The communists helped inspire and encourage the recent riots in Bombay, which took 12 lives and disrupted all law and order for several hours in some areas of the city.

The chief source of this infection is the so-called educated unemployed—those of the struggling middle class for whom as they pour out of the universities with a faulty imitation of a classical education there are so pathetically few opportunities.

The contrast with the villages where 70 to 80 per cent of the Indian people live is sharp. Progress is being made in the villages, with standards of living slightly raised and production substantially increased so that India is producing enough food with favorable weather conditions to feed its own people. Western observers who believe India will succeed in this extraordinary experiment base their conviction on progress in the villages.

A great deal depends on Nehru. His is in many respects a personal government, and his passing would make a profound difference.

He appears to be supremely confident that he can guide his country down an uncommitted path, adhering neither to the Communist nor the Western system. There are among his critics, it should be added, those who believe he underestimated the effect of the Russian visit, and they suggest he may be concerned over the degree to which it has begun to edge India alongside the Soviet group. Any successor, and few venture to say who that successor might be, would have great difficulty in steering the same course.

Beneath the pride that the average Indian so frankly feels in this seems to be also a kind of satisfaction that this is revenge on the West for all the snubs and slights and oppressions and scorns of the past; even for so recent an affront, as it was in Indian eyes, as the American pact providing arms for Pakistan. You see, they seem to say, we can do it; we don't need you.

The danger of the moment, it seems to this observer, is that the West, and particularly America, may react in the same way. Very well then, we shall say, if you don't need us, then we don't need you. If that should happen it will be a tragedy for both India and America. No matter what irritations, no matter what difficulties of temperament or words spoken by politicians, the need to work together is as great today as it ever was; as great for one as for the other. The first and easy judgment is that this is the beginning of the end, with India on the slippery slope down to, if not Communism, then alliance with Russia. But that is too easy a judgment. It is an admission of defeat that we in the West cannot afford.

An Icebox's Capacity Equals Her Intuition

Any man who doubts the intuitive powers of womankind needs only to go to the family refrigerator to have all doubts removed. No power on earth except intuition could get that many things into an icebox.

This is a truth I learned the hard way. The learning was forced upon me, you might say, by a pang of hunger. It struck while Mrs. F. was on an errand downtown. The normal thing to do when attacked by a pang of hunger is to go to the refrigerator. I did.

Then, not having any clear idea of what the pang was clamoring for, I shopped around among the shelves. A dish of cranberry sauce did not seem to exert any strong appeal, nor did a leftover drumstick from a very recent chicken dinner. I took them out and placed them on the kitchen table, in order better to see what else might be there.

The pound of bacon I found might have been tempting, except that I was not in a mood for cooking. What I wanted was a quick snack. Neither did a slab of cheese seem to be exactly the right thing, nor could I work up any real interest in a plate of spinach. I put them with the cranberry sauce and the drumstick, and went on with my inventory.

By the time I got down to the tomatoes and celery, there was no more room left on the kitchen table, so I switched over to the sink as a sort of auxiliary, temporary surplus depot. Then, the first thing I knew, that was full of cantaloupes, canned milk, fresh milk, pork chops, leftover sliced peaches and similar odds and ends of the bounty of field, farm and supermarket.

One thing I found in the back of the refrigerator that I never did find any explanation for was an old golf ball. By the time I came to that, though, I had been forced to give up the sink and drainboard, after futilely attempting to balance a jar of olives on top of a head of lettuce, and place additional items on two kitchen chairs.

It was fortunate for my endurance that I finally came to three hard-boiled eggs, which seemed somehow to be exactly what my pang of hunger was all about. I ate two of them, satisfying the pang. The third one I put back.

Being a methodical and logical man, as well as a well trained husband, I reasoned that I had better put everything back where it came from, and that the best way to do it was to put the groceries back in the order in which I had taken them out.

I might as well have tried to stuff Buddy Baer into a keyhole. The two kitchen chairs and a small area of the drainboard were evacuated when it became agonizingly evident that what I needed was three more refrigerators and a deep freeze.

Mrs. F. came home one hour and 10 minutes later. She glanced at me sharply and said, "My, you're getting fat lately." She took another look and added, "In fact, you look congested."

"Tsk, tsk," she said. "Won't you ever learn to put things back in the refrigerator?"

And, so help me, within three minutes she had everything back in there and was adding two cartons of ice cream and a watermelon, which she had got downtown.

Subsidy Based On Milling Quality Of Wheat Favored

Growers Convene In McCook

McCOOK, Neb. (AP) — Herbert Hughes of Imperial told delegates to the second annual Nebraska Wheatgrowers Assn. convention Tuesday that he favored establishment of a farm subsidy based on the milling quality of wheat instead of on the grade of the wheat.

Hughes, the only U. S. farmer to attend the recent international wheat conference in Switzerland, said "if we don't change the present grading standards on wheat, we are going to lose our foreign markets."

He said the present grading standards are resulting in poor quality wheat being shipped to foreign markets.

"Most of the foreign countries don't even know we raise a top grade of wheat," he said.

Another factor which Hughes believed will have a future effect on the foreign market are the practices within each of the import nations to increase their own production of wheat.

Among these practices Hughes listed a desire of the people of the import countries to use their dollars for farm machinery to increase this production rather than to purchase food.

Political Prestige

Another vital influence in the picture is the political prestige held by the wheat grower in many import countries, Hughes said. This influences wheat buyers there to pay higher prices for their wheat even though they could buy U. S. wheat at a lower price, he said.

Hughes hinted that the Commodity Credit Corporation is considering the possibility that surplus wheat it now holds will be given to church organizations for distribution in needy nations.

Dean W. V. Lambert of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, leader of a U. S. farm delegation to Russia last summer, was another speaker.

"American agriculture cannot sit back and stick its head in the sand and still hope to maintain its present supremacy over Russian agriculture," he said.

An auxiliary of the association was formed Tuesday. Mrs. George Moreland of Imperial is president and Mrs. Lester Mort of Venango vice president.

Freak Skid Auto Owned By Airman

A Lincoln airman was identified as owner of a car found at 42nd and Vine early Tuesday by police who said the vehicle had skidded 269 feet to an upright stop at the corner.

Motorcycle Officer Bob Summers said the skid marks on the street showed it had skidded at a 45-degree angle over two curbs before coming to a stop.

The car's owner, Staff Sgt. James Winslow of the Lincoln Air Force Base, said he was not driving the vehicle at the time the skidding occurred. Winslow told police he thought the person driving was not familiar with power steering, with which the car was equipped.

All four tires on the vehicle were flat when it came to rest. The car, however, did not turn over.

Archbishop Boris Ill

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—Archbishop Boris of the Russian Orthodox Church, who is visiting Canada, was taken ill with a chill Tuesday and engagements for the next two days were canceled. The illness was not considered serious.

Probation Given Youth In Raymond Elevator Breakin

Russell M. Lindquist Jr., 20, of 1335 No. 24th was placed on two years' probation in connection with the Nov. 27 burglary of a Raymond grain elevator.

Lindquist, just turned 20, had pleaded guilty to the charge and admitted in Lancaster District Court that he had knowledge of the burglary and drove the getaway car.

A 17-year-old youth, involved in the breakin, was committed to the State Training School for Boys after his probation was revoked, and a 19-year-old youth, who had pleaded guilty to burglary, is awaiting sentencing.

Authorities said about $1.10 was obtained in the break-in, but $240 was overlooked in an unlocked safe.

Border Duel

JERUSALEM (AP)—Egyptian and Israeli guns dueled across the Gaza strip border most of Tuesday, U N. truce observers reported. The shooting—concentrated in the central sector of the front—was described as heavy.

No casualties were announced by either side. But a U.N. spokesman said both Egypt and Israel complained to the Mixed Armistice Commission. The firing stopped after truce observers ordered a cease-fire.

Press Applauds

LONDON (INS) — The visit of Prime Minister Eden to President Eisenhower in January was welcomed by the British press which saw the meeting as a sign of a new, tougher Western policy. The London Daily Mail's diplomatic correspondent said a grim warning to Russia will come from the Eisenhower-Eden talks.

Elected to the Masonic board of relief was retiring Master George Maser. New Board of Trustees members are Roy N. Brendle and Gerald E. Miller.

P. D. Stierberger, Salesman, Dies

Philip D. Stierberger, 49, died at his home at 115 No. 31st Tuesday.

First Free Polio Shots Ordered

The State Health Department received the first requistions from Nebraska doctors for free polio vaccine under the Federal government's program Tuesday.

Letters containing the requisitions were mailed only Monday and Alan Rouse, state polio director, said first shipments are expected to go out Wednesday.

Although only 55,000 CC's of the Salk vaccine, out of 300,000 CC's the state expects to get, have arrived, the health department decided last week to go ahead with the distribution program. Requisitions can be expected to arrive in sizable numbers in the next few days, Rouse said.

The last Congress appropriated funds to provide the vaccine. Doctors cannot charge patients for the vaccine itself but can charge a fee for administering the shots.

Invitations to doctors to ask for the vaccine went to about 1,380 Nebraska physicians. Where requisitions are large, quantities probably will be cut in half in an effort to put at least some of the available vaccine in the hands of each requesting doctor, Rouse said.

The Smith-Dorsey pharmaceutical firm of Lincoln holds the contract to make the distributions.

In contrast to some evidence of earlier apathy, inquiries and requests from doctors have reached tremendous proportions in the last two months, Rouse reported.

State Fliers Get New 'Air Maps' By First Of Year

New Nebraska Aeronautical charts, the aviator's version of the motorist's road map, will soon go out to Nebraska fliers.

State Aeronautics Director James Ramsey said Tuesday he is hopeful of having the charts out by the first of the year.

Copies will go to all licensed and registered aviation personnel in the state and to other persons requesting them.

The charts are somewhat larger than the usual road map and both sides are used to chart the entire state. The front also carries a smaller scale "planning chart" on which the flier can map a trip.

The charts fold up, much like a road map.

Revisions in the chart, to mirror changes and improvements in airport facilities, customarily are made every year or two, Ramsey said.

IOWA TRUCKER DIES AFTER SEMIS CRASH

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Arba R. Knight, 30, Stuart, Iowa, truck driver died of injuries suffered Monday in the collision of his semi-trailer truck and a halted semi-trailer truck near Maxwell, Neb.

Knight suffered a punctured lung, fractured jaw, fractured leg, fractured ribs and other injuries.

State Safety Patrolman Gayle Miller said Knight's truck crashed into the rear of a semi-trailer operated by George H. Whitlatch Jr., of Adams City, Colo. Miller said Whitlatch halted his truck because of engine trouble and Dallas C. Silvey, Omaha, also driving a semi-trailer pulled up behind him. Knight's truck crashed into the Whitlatch truck, Miller said.

Knight's death brings the 1955 Nebraska highway toll to 296, compared with 303 at this time last year.

3 Polio Cases

Three new polio cases were reported in Nebraska last week, including one each in Buffalo, Douglas and Scotts Bluff Counties, the State Health Department reported Tuesday. The current year's total of 277 cases to date compares with 702 at this time a year ago.

Severe Cold, Raking Winds Tough On Some Of Nebraska's Livestock

Plunging temperatures and strong winds last week end were "rather severe" on livestock in northern Nebraska, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Tuesday.

The weather increased feed requirements considerably after a fall season which, until two weeks ago, was favorable for conservation of feed, the agency's weekly crop report said.

Winter wheat received moisture in varying amounts and full reports from the field have not yet been received, the division said. But more moisture is needed badly in southeastern Nebraska to pack the surface soil.

Southeast Shorted

Moisture in the western two-thirds of the state came as snow in amounts varying from moderate to heavy. The northern portion of the eastern third of the state also received moderate to heavy amounts, but precipitation was lighter in the southeast.

Panhandle wheat had received nearly normal precipitation in November but most of the remainder of the state had received little moisture since September.

Other observations:

A few southwestern counties have from 10 to 20 per cent of their corn unharvested. Some corn is being shipped into the state but transportation costs make the price unprofitable for livestock feeding.

Auctions Numerous

Farm auctions of personal property appear more numerous than usual.

Many farmers still seek off-the-farm work. In one southwestern area, only three farmers were placed out of 25 applying for work.

Some farmers have been forced to sell out because of the price squeeze and farm debt is increasing.

With few exceptions, replacement of feeder cattle has been slow. Hog prices continue low. Farmers with fat hogs hesitate to sell but cannot afford to feed corn at present prices.

Weather Bureau precipitation reports covering the week ending Monday: Grand Island .41 of an inch, Lincoln .16, Norfolk .76. Omaha .20, North Platte .59, Valentine .39, Chadron .26, Scottsbluff 1.06, Sidney .09.

Tippery, Shot By Policeman, Gets Sentence

... In Burglary Case

Thomas Tippery, 34, of 2300 So. 37th was sentenced to an indeterminate Penitentiary term of three to six years for the June 7 burglary of the Moose Club at 6007 Havelock.

Tippery, who was wounded near the scene by a Lincoln police officer, pleaded no contest to the burglary charge in Lancaster District Court after contending his innocence during a preliminary hearing.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Paul White noted the defendant had served two five-year prison terms previously in Iowa for grand larceny, one in 1941 and the other in 1945, and has been arrested in 1951 as a fugitive from justice.

The co-defendant in the break-in, Charles W. Jackson, 28, of Lincoln was sentenced last July to three years in the Penitentiary after pleading guilty.

Jackson was apprehended in St. Louis, Mo., after the break-in and returned to Lincoln.

Dollars And Nonsense

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Dean Ives had a birthday and received a package from his son, Doug, a university student. Opening the box, Dean found a set of inexpensive cuff links and matching tie clasp. And this note: "Dear Dad: This isn't much. But it's all you can afford."

Point Of No Return

PAYSON, Ariz. (AP)—After spending a day looking for Indian arrowheads, C. H. Kelly felt mightly low because he couldn't find any. Tired, he headed back to his car and found an arrowhead, which made him feel even lower. It was imbedded in a tire of his car, and the tire was flat.

Labor Secretary, Harriman Both Call On Unions To Speak Out In Politics

By The Associated Press

Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and President Eisenhower's secretary of labor, James P. Mitchell, both called on organized labor Tuesday to speak out strongly in politics.

They had the same, receptive audience—the New York convention of the now merged AFL and CIO. President George Meany and Vice President Walter Reuther of the AFL-CIO already had come out for increased political activity by unions.

In Washington meanwhile, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) backed the stand of Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) that the unions would have no business endorsing a candidate for the presidency. Smith went further, saying it would be wrong for them to endorse candidates for the House or Senate.

Pleasure

Both Goldwater and Reuther found occasion for pleasure in what Eisenhower told the labor convention Monday. Eisenhower said unions have a right to deal in political issues, but that minority elements in union memberships should be "scrupulously protected and their views accurately reflected."

Reuther said Esenhower's message "refutes completely the Goldwater line."

But Goldwater, chairman of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee, said Eisenhower's remark about protecting minority views was in tune with his own views.

Goldwater charged that Reuther intends to "force his political views upon individual union members."

Also in Washington, Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said he doesn't expect the AFL-CIO to stop the practice of endorsing candidates but "I believe laboring men and women .. will continue to vote their independent convictions."

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), who is expected to announce soon as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said "I think labor unions ought to be able to express themselves."

Harriman, another likely Democratic contender, was applauded 22 times during his speech to the labor convention. One voice from the audience shouted "Give 'em hell, Averell' when in the "give 'em hell" style of former President Truman, he ripped into the Republican administration.

Nixon Hit

The Republicans, Harriman said, have turned over the National Labor Relations Board "to men with long antilabor records." He also had criticism for Vice President Nixon, Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the Interior McKay.

"We need more, not less, participation by working men and women in American political affairs," Harriman said.

Secretary Mitchell noted that the AFL-CIO leaders have said they intend to keep their members informed politically but will not try to control their votes. No one can object to that, Mitchell said.

The secretary also said organized labor has a duty and responsibility to speak out in politics with a "loud and clear" voice. He said he expected the AFL-CIO to support the administration's labor policies.

Postal Receipts Increase $90,263 Through November

The Lincoln Post Office reports an increase of $90,263 in postal receipts for the first 11 months this year as compared with a year ago.

The 1955 receipts through November total $2,414,775, according to Postomaster O. E. Jerner.

November receipts amounted to $239,851—an increase of $1,367 over the same month last year.

In the Postal Savings department, there were 3,141 accounts totaling $2,836,442 on Nov. 30 this year as compared with 3,594 accounts and $3,395,371 a year ago.

Money orders dropped slightly from a year ago. November business totalled $239,060.95 as compared with $253,532 a year ago.

Snack Ends

INDIANAPOLIS (INS) — A Rabbit that has been lunching on snap dragons and chrysanthemumums was pushing up daisies Tuesday.

Harry Asperger said the bunny had eaten at least $500 in corsage flowers in the last few months inside the greenhouse. Nothing discouraged the flower-eating bunny.

Tuesday, Asperger, his patience exhausted, leveled a shotgun blast that ended the rabbit's existence halfway through a snack of carnations.

District Court Judges Order Show Cause On Petitions For Grand Jury

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Lancaster District Court ordered Tuesday that cause be shown why the petition calling for a grand jury should or should not be denied.

Citing 14 reasons for the move, the four District Court judges set hearing on the petition for next Jan. 16 at 10 a.m., when the petitioners or other qualified electors will be heard.

The petition for the summoning of a grand jury contained 1,145 signatures and was filed with the court last Sept. 29.

It was filed after a previous petition was denied by the court when it was found lacking the necessary 726 qualified signatures. That petition contained 783 names.

Reasons For Order

The court, on its own motion, ordered a showing on the petition because:

1. The petitioners personally nor by attorney have attempted to carry the petition by further pleading or showing into full legal effect.

2. The calling of a grand jury appears to be a substantial and burdensome expense to the county taxpayers.

Baker Has 'No Comment'

Richard M. Baker of 2045 E. Manor Drive, who headed both petition circulations, had "no comment" Tuesday until he has "opportunity to study the court's order."

The petition was filed with the court Sept. 29 by Baker, who indicated the fires and revolts at both the Penitentiary and Reformatory had prompted the action.

The petition states in part:

"Whereas recent developments at Nebraska Penal and Correctional Institutions have cost the taxpayers of Nebraska unnecessary expense and made the State of Nebraska look ridiculous throughout the nation, we petition the calling of a grand jury to determine to what extent the heads of these institutions, the Board of Conrol, and the Governor have made legal errors of omission or commission which contributed to this situation."

The petition requests the District Court "to forthwith call and summon a Grand Jury in manner provided by law."

3. All prosecutions, including misdeameanors, traffic offenses, and felonies, by information (legal process available to prosecuting attorneys) apparently would be halted and indictments would have to be obtained before a grand jury, if called.

4. No showing has been made that elected and appointed law enforcement officers in the county have not diligently investigated and prosecuted all crimes and offenses.

5. The petition either describes, calls for an investigation of, or alleges the commission of any specific crimes nor alleges failure of regular law enforcement officers to perform their duties.

6. The grand jury, apparently under statute, has now power to investigate, interrupt or encumber the executive branch of government in the administration of its duties, or to investigate or control civil, political or noncriminal activities.

7. The sole function and purpose of a grand jury is apparently to investigate and return indictments for specific criminal acts, and to inspect the county jail.

8. The petition for the grand jury appears to state its purpose as determining alleged unnecessary expense to the taxpayers and as determining to what extent the state administration has contributed to and has "made the State of Nebraska look ridiculous throughout the nation."

9. The ends of justice will be served by granting to all petitions and other interested citizens and taxpayers a full and complete hearing on the matter with proper notice and opportunity to appear.

Beatrice Airport Tests Omni-Range

The Beatrice airport's new visual omni-range station now is operating on a test basis and test operation of similar new stations at Kearney and McCook should begain in the next week or 10 days, State Aeronautics Driector James Ramsey reported Tuesday.

Tests normally are continued for about a month. Actual commissioning of the three new navigational aid stations should occur in January, Ramsey said.

The new stations will bring to six the number of Nebraska airports at which the stations have been placed under state sponsorship. The three already in use are at Norfolk, Ainsworth and Alliance.

Angelo Inciso Tells Senators Of Spending Union Funds For Diamond Gifts

...Watch May Have Gone To Cop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Angelo Inciso, a Chicago union leader, Tuesday described to curious senators how he used union funds for expensive gifts—like $1,200 diamond rings and $360 money clips—to persons who had performed "favors" for his union.

A diamond dial watch may have gone to a Chicago police captain, he said.

Inciso, testifying before a Senate Labor subcommittee in its study of union welfare funds, also told of trips he took to Arizona, Florida and Puerto Rico at union expense.

The witness is president of Local 286 of the AFL-United Auto Workers. Before finally showing up last week, he had ignored two earlier subpoenaes and was cited for contempt.

Large Sums

Inciso's testimony also touched on large sums which he said had been lent, without prior knowledge of his union's membership, to manufacturers in whose plants he had organized the workers.

One such loan, he said, totaled $40,000 to William F. Stohl, owner of the Precision Paper Tool Co., of Chicago.

Inciso testified that details of the interest-free loan, to be repaid in one year, were worked out while his union was striking at Stohl's plant. The loan, he said, was made after the strike ended.

Inciso, who takes bodyguards around with him, said he also made loans to other manufacturers whom he did not identify.

Paul Cotter, chief counsel for the subcommittee, confronted Inciso with vouchers for withdrawal of union funds that contained no itemization other than "for organizational expense."

Diamond Rings

Cotter's questioning brought out that a Feb. 7, 1952, voucher for $1,200 was used for the purchase of a man's diamond ring from L. R Sohn & Co., Chicago jewelers. An other voucher for $1,100 was used to buy a second man's diamond ring.

Inciso said one of the rings was given to a "Bill Woods."

He identified Woods as an official of a Chicago teamsters union. He said he thought the other ring went to a "Louie Pike," also a teamster's official.

Incisco said the rings were purchased with union funds "to show our appreciation" for favors performed by other unions.

Too Long

He said he didn't bother to get permission of the union membership to buy the rings or other gifts because such action would "take too long and besides, by that time, the ring might be out of style."

Incisco also explained that another voucher, drawn also for "organizational expense," was used to purchase four diamond dial watches.

These, he said, were given to an Ed Fenner of an independent teamsters union and "probably" to Pike and Woods. He said he couldn't recall the name of the fourth recipient, adding "maybe it was to Eddie Gonna"—as he pronounced it. He said he was unable to spell the name but the man was a police captain in Chicago's 14th Precinct.

"Many times when we had trouble on the picket line," Inciso said, "he would try to help us out as much as possible."

District Court Judges Order Show Cause On Petitions For Grand Jury

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Lancaster District Court ordered Tuesday that cause be shown why the petition calling for a grand jury should or should not be denied.

Citing 14 reasons for the move, the four District Court judges set hearing on the petition for next Jan. 16 at 10 a.m., when the petitioners or other qualified electors will be heard.

The petition for the summoning of a grand jury contained 1,145 signatures and was filed with the court last Sept. 29.

It was filed after a previous petition was denied by the court when it was found lacking the necessary 726 qualified signatures. That petition contained 783 names.

Reasons For Order

The court, on its own motion, ordered a showing on the petition because:

1. The petitioners personally nor by attorney have attempted to carry the petition by further pleading or showing into full legal effect.

2. The calling of a grand jury appears to be a substantial and burdensome expense to the county taxpayers.

Baker Has 'No Comment'

Richard M. Baker of 2045 E. Manor Drive, who headed both petition circulations, had "no comment" Tuesday until he has "opportunity to study the court's order."

The petition was filed with the court Sept. 29 by Baker, who indicated the fires and revolts at both the Penitentiary and Reformatory had prompted the action.

The petition states in part:

"Whereas recent developments at Nebraska Penal and Correctional Institutions have cost the taxpayers of Nebraska unnecessary expense and made the State of Nebraska look ridiculous throughout the nation, we petition the calling of a grand jury to determine to what extent the heads of these institutions, the Board of Conrol, and the Governor have made legal errors of omission or commission which contributed to this situation."

The petition requests the District Court "to forthwith call and summon a Grand Jury in manner provided by law."

3. All prosecutions, including misdeameanors, traffic offenses, and felonies, by information (legal process available to prosecuting attorneys) apparently would be halted and indictments would have to be obtained before a grand jury, if called.

4. No showing has been made that elected and appointed law enforcement officers in the county have not diligently investigated and prosecuted all crimes and offenses.

5. The petition either describes, calls for an investigation of, or alleges the commission of any specific crimes nor alleges failure of regular law enforcement officers to perform their duties.

6. The grand jury, apparently under statute, has now power to investigate, interrupt or encumber the executive branch of government in the administration of its duties, or to investigate or control civil, political or noncriminal activities.

7. The sole function and purpose of a grand jury is apparently to investigate and return indictments for specific criminal acts, and to inspect the county jail.

8. The petition for the grand jury appears to state its purpose as determining alleged unnecessary expense to the taxpayers and as determining to what extent the state administration has contributed to and has "made the State of Nebraska look ridiculous throughout the nation."

9. The ends of justice will be served by granting to all petitions and other interested citizens and taxpayers a full and complete hearing on the matter with proper notice and opportunity to appear.

Beatrice Airport Tests Omni-Range

The Beatrice airport's new visual omni-range station now is operating on a test basis and test operation of similar new stations at Kearney and McCook should begain in the next week or 10 days, State Aeronautics Driector James Ramsey reported Tuesday.

Tests normally are continued for about a month. Actual commissioning of the three new navigational aid stations should occur in January, Ramsey said.

The new stations will bring to six the number of Nebraska airports at which the stations have been placed under state sponsorship. The three already in use are at Norfolk, Ainsworth and Alliance.

The wedding is planned for Sunday, Jan. 22.

Miss Rittmaster was graduated from the Grier School, Tyrone, Pa., and also attended Colby Junior College and the University of Michigan.

Mr. Gold, who served as a first lieutenant in World War II, with overseas duty in the European theater, attended Culver Military Academy, and the University of Nebraska.

The committee in charge of the affair includes Miss Carol DeWitt, chairman; Mrs. Earl Kraft and Mrs. Delbert Clements.

Party For Fiancees And Fiances

More often than not a bridegroom-elect is left to twiddle his thumbs while his fiancee is out making merry at a party—His share of the festivities has to do with dropping her off at the home of the hostess and picking her up when the party is over.

But on Tuesday evening three popular brides-elect and their fiances shared honors at a dinner for which Miss Lynn Holland was hostess at her home—The honorees were Miss Judy Flansburg, whose marriage to Robert Burton takes place on Dec. 17—and Mr. Burton; Miss Judy Wiebe and her fiance, William Shainholtz, whose wedding is Dec. 20—and Miss Agnes Anderson and her fiance, David Olson, who have a wedding date in early February.

The Brides' Book Says:

For her marriage to Lt. Charles B. Hasbrouck, Jr., of Bladenboro, N. C., on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 10, Miss Clara Hack has named as her maid of honor her sister, Miss Thelma Jean Hack of Waterloo, Ia. Her matron of honor and only other attendant will be Mrs. Blake Cathroe of Lincoln.

Miss Hack, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd G. Hack of Waterloo and who has served as field director for the Lincoln Girl Scouts, will become the bride of Lt. Hasbrouck at a 3 o'clock afternoon service at the First Baptist Church in Lincoln.

"Smart gal, my Susie!"

▶ A lot of wives complain about housework, but not my Susie. She uses her head instead of her muscles. For example, some women are always waxing floors. But my Susie uses new, hard lustre Bruce Self-Polishing Wax. She never has to wax more than once a month or so. That bright, hard finish seems to wear like iron. And to top it off, our beautiful floors are the envy of Susie's friends. My hat's off to Susie and her new Bruce Self-Polishing Wax for making a tough job so easy. Can't help but feel proud of both of them.

▶ P.S. You're the boss, gals! New Bruce Self-Polishing Wax must outshine, outlast all others—or money back!

Health Dept. Looks To Bryant School

Would Move In If School Board Wants To Sell, Trade Property

By AL EDEE
Star Staff Writer

The Bryant School building at 18th and Q may become temporary quarters for the City-County Health Department if the Lincoln School Board decides to sell the quarter block on which the building is located.

Health Board member Hugh Thorne revealed at a regular meeting of the Health Board Tuesday night that "the city would like to own the fourth of the block."

He said the School Board is going to "take up the matter at the next board meeting." Thorne added that he hoped the School Board would trade the land for some tract the city now owns.

Both Dr. James Googe, director of the department, and board member Russell Brehm indicated that federal funds may be available for remodeling and furnishing the old school building for use by the Health Department.

Shots Socialized?

Discussion flared when the board considered allowing the Health Department to start giving free polio shots to those who cannot afford it.

Brehm asked board member Dr. C. K. Elliott, "is this socialized medicine?"

Dr. Elliott said, "I presume you could so call it."

He said, "I don't know whether it was official or not—but we (doctors) received word we could not charge for the administration of polio shots if it were going to deny a child the vaccine."

Doctors are given a free allotment of the vaccine by the state Health Department.

Consistency Urged

Board President Mrs. E. J. Thompson said the department is presently giving free small pox and diphtheria shots. On the strength of that, she said, the policy should be continued as to polio vaccine.

The board told Dr. Elliott to discuss the matter further with the polio committee and report his findings.

Dr. Googe said if the Health Department is allowed to give free polio shots for indigents he did not expect that more than 200 or 300 people to come through.

Dr. Googe said at the meeting that one diphtheria case was reported in Lincoln this fall. He said the case involved a 63-year-old woman.

He also reported that because of the considerable number of diphtheria cases in Omaha with three resulting deaths the diphtheria immunizations were accelerated for children up to and including 12 years of age. Dr. Googe said to date 1,299 persons have received initial or booster doses of toxoid.

"No untoward effects have been reported," he said, "except for two or three cases where parents reported sore arms on their children."

In other board action it approved the hiring of Miss Virginia Zieman, 37, of 2103 A on Jan. 1 or 15, 1956, at a salary of $240 per month as a graduate nurse to replace Mrs. Rachael Dow who will leave the department.

No Serpent

VENICE, Calif. (AP)—Hopes of oldtimers along this sea-coast that they had found a real sea serpent were blasted by a scientist.

John Fitch, state marine biologist, identified a 16-foot "whatsit" as a harmless basking shark, fairly rare in these waters.

He said the basking shark swims along the surface of the water and strains small sea life through its teeth.

Dittman and L. H. Alberty, director of the vocational agriculture department, will be installed as honorary FFA members.

Knox had been charged with both rape and adultery on an alleged July 3 offense involving a married woman and had pleaded innocent.

He later changed his plea to no contest on the adultery charge after the rape count was dismissed by the county attorney.

Man Released After Slaying Questioning

OMAHA (AP) — Authorities late Tuesday released one of two men questioned in the Monday slaying of Omaha taxi driver Erick W. Burkwist, 62.

A second man questioned in the slaying was still held but police said they did not believe he had any connection with the crime.

Meanwhile, police learned that Burkwist may have had more money than the $17.65 his fare log showed he had collected while on duty.

A friend of the slain driver, whose body was dumped from the cab on a lonely street, said Burkwist had drawn $100 from a bank during the day to pay for repairs to his personal car.

Blood checks were being made on a blood stained suit coat found by a motorist between Lincoln and Omaha and turned in to the State Safety Patrol who in turn handed it to Omaha officials.

Still missing were the pistol with which Burkwist was shot twice and a money changer he was believed to have had attached to his belt, ripped from his body.

Weaver Calls For Young Viewpoint

Rep. Phil Weaver (R-Neb) said Tuesday night some of the finest suggestions for legislative programs he has received have "come from young men and women who look forward to a bright and prosperous future under the free enterprise system."

It is essential for a political party always to have the viewpoint of young men and women, he declared in remarks prepared for a meeting of Lancaster County Young Republicans here.

Participation in party affairs trains youth for bigger responsibilities of citizenship that will come to them in the future, he added.

Rep. Weaver said he wanted to continue to urge young people throughout his district to advise him on veterans affairs and other matters of particular interest to younger constituents.

Chancellor Pledges Full NU Backing

...For New Coach

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Any doubts that the University of Nebraska administration will back Pete Elliott—the new football coach when he says yes—to the limit were dispelled Tuesday.

Chancellor Hardin promised "complete backing and support of the University administration and the Board of Regents" in a statement released Tuesday morning.

This was the only development of the day-after it was revealed Athletic Director Bill Orwig had selected the 29-year-old Elliott to guide Nebraska's grid fortunes and the latter seemed inclined to accept although unable to say yes until after the Orange Bowl.

Tuesday was just a day of relief throughout Husker fandom. Orwig was happy, players were happy, fans were happy and the press seemed pleased with the selection of Elliott.

"Wait"

Orwig had nothing to say Tuesday, other than: "All there is to do is wait until Jan. 3—and I'm sure we'll get the right answer then."

But in the meantime, Chancellor Hardin issued his statement which promised Elliott administration backing. The chancellor's statement said:

"Athletic Director Bill Orwig has recommended an outstanding leader in intercollegiate athletics to head up our football program at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Orwig has shown in the past his ability to select real leaders for key positions in the athletic department.

"I am, of course, hopeful that Mr. Pete Elliott will accept the invitation extended to him. Mr. Elliott, should he accept the invitation, will have the complete backing and support of the University administration and the Board of Regents.

"I am confident that Mr. Elliott would provide continued leadership in intercollegiate football and that he would be successful in developing a good football program of which all Nebraskans will be rightfully proud."

Contracts Honored

At a meeting of the Nebraska football squad, Orwig assured the players that scholarship contracts entered into by Bill Glassford, who resigned after the last game, will be honored by the school.

In other words, the arrival of a new coach won't cause present players to get the axe. They are Nebraska players and will remain just that, Orwig assured them.

Members of the team—undergraduates who will be back next fall—seemed pleased over the selection of Elliott as coach. But never having met him, they declined to make statements.

"From all we've read and heard, Mr. Elliott seems like a fine man and coach," one player said. "But I've never met him and don't know what to say. Judging from his pictures, he looks like a swell fellow. I'm anxious to meet him."

Much has been passed by word of mouth and in print about "the O Street Gang" and most of it has been entirely wrong and unfair to Lincoln businessmen who have been loyal supporters of University of Nebraska athletics.

It's therefore pleasant to get a sample of the true picture. Dr. Arden Means of Holdrege, Neb., former Husker football player and a Lincoln High All-Stater, pens a letter that merits attention.

Ardie Means

Ardie writes: 'I held off writing this letter to you but I can stand it no longer. I feel after reading your column you recognize the situation as well as I do. In the midst of the football coaching muddle of the University of Nebraska a great injustice is being done. The wrong I am speaking of is the time-worn expression, "The O Street Gang." This expression has gained momentum until the student section at the Nebraska-Oklahoma game began to chant, "All the way to O Street," as Nebraska headed toward the south goal.

"Not many people even know who or what they are referring to and certainly no one contributes more to the success of the University of Nebraska football team, the individual players or the university itself as these men do. From talking and asking people who they mean when they use this phrase, they indicate the store operators of the downtown Lincoln section. These are the very men they should not ever criticize.

"I think it is time one of the athletes who these men benefitted speaks up in their behalf before whoever got the people and students riled up against them, irritates these men to the point where they withdraw their support of the future athletes. I won't benefit by this. I've received their support and I would like to preserve their help for future Nebraska athletes.

"People who ridicule these men and complain most say they commit the followng:

"1. Tell the university who to hire as coach

"2. Tell the coach who to play

"3. Tell the coach how to run the policies of the team

"4. Need a good team for business reasons.

"None of these are true and anyone with common sense can reason out how senseless these insults are.

"Rather than explain, I would like to tell my story of the "O Street Gang." You must bear in mind this is a typical story of an average Nebraska football player and could apply to any athlete who takes the field in a Nebraska uniform any Saturday of the past, present or future.

"When I returned from the Navy in 1947 I needed an athletic scholarship in order to save my GI Bill for future higher cost schooling. I mentioned this to a friend of mine and the next morning I received a phone call from Mr. J. John Grainger offering me a truck driving job for the summer and Christmas vacation periods while I was in school. I accepted and this was a seven-year job.

"Because of the first job, I met Mr. Sam Gatto who offered me a second job after my football eligibility was completed. This was an evening job for four years. I spent three years in pre-dental training and four years in Dental College—three years past my football eligibility—but neither of these men withdrew their support to my schooling. There isn't a merchant of the downtown Lincoln area who contributes to the support of athletes at Nebraska who is a "fair weather" supporter of the team.

"There are athletes employed in all major businesses and a great number of small stores in Lincoln, and not one of them ever got tapped on the shoulder and told to quit because the team was losing. These merchants also hire the wives of the players and get them places to live and help them get extra money during the off season.

"I hope the public and the students who have criticized and taken up the cry, "The O Street Gang," can now see how foolish they have been and how they could jeopardize the future support of Nebraska athletes. It would be much better for everyone if they would laud the unselfishness of these LINCOLN BUSINESSMEN and try to contribute to future teams and coaches rather than degrade the men who, win, lose or draw, have always helped the team as a team and as individuals."

We'll just add: Well said, Ardie!

By RON SPEER

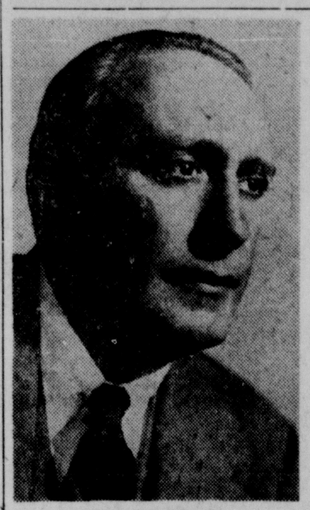
A pair of slender firebrands sparkled for University High in the baptism of the new school gym Tuesday night as the Tutors smothered Blair, 72-37.

Marv Bauer and Bill Hunsaker led the Tutor's red hot attack. Bauer notched 20 points and Hunsaker collected 26.



TUG WILSON

Marv Bauer, junior floor-man for the Tutors, hit seven straight jump shots from around the 15-foot mark in a spectacular display of shooting.

He missed twice early in the game, then started hitting and never missed again. He slipped in a pair of layups between his pet shots for an .818 shooting percentage from the field.

Bauer didn't see action during the final period as Coach Dale Snook cleared the bench.

Hunsacker was hitting consistently from the outside with his left-handed tosses, and drove in smoothly for several layups to collect 10 field goals. He added six more points during nine chances free throw stripe.

Blair led only once during the scrap when Marvin Wetchensky scored the first basket of the night to give the visitors a 2-0 margin.

Hunsaker tied it up on two free tosses, and Jim Huge and J. V. Olson added points to give University High a lasting lead.

The Tutors held an 18-9 edge as the first period ended, and increased it to 38-24 at the intermission. Blair couldn't find the range in the third quarter and registered only four points. The Tutors had a deciding 56-28 lead going into the final period.

Don Pells, 6-2 pivot man for University High, totaled 10 points for the night by sinking five hook shots from inside.

Wetchensky was Blairs high point man with 10.

About 550 University High fans were on hand for the first game in the gym.

Few fouls were called during the contest. Blair players committed seven infractions. The Tutors committed 15.

Nashua To Be Put On Sale Block

NEW YORK (AP)—Executors of the estate of William Woodward Jr. announced Tuesday that Nashua, the 3-year-old champion of 1955, and other horses of the Belair Stud would be sold to the highest bidder.

The sale of the Belair stable, one of the most prominent in the United States, has been rumored since the death of Woodward, Oct. 30. The executors, the Hanover Bank and John W. Ludewig, called for sealed bids to be received not later than 11 a.m., Thursday, Dec. 15, 1955.

"Thereafter they will be opened by the executors and the successful bidders notified," said the bank and Ludewig, who was secretary for the late sportsman. "All bids must be accompanied by a certified check for 10 percent of the amount bid or they shall be void."

Satterfield KOs Andrews

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Bob Satterfield of Chicago, fifth-ranking light-heavyweight, knocked Paul Andrews of Buffalo through the ropes and out with a stunning right cross high on the head in 2:02 of the ninth round of a scheduled 10-round heavyweight battle here Tuesday night.

After a slow eight rounds, Satterfield finally caught Andrews in a corner, stunned him with a sharp left hook to the jaw, and clubbed him with a series of vicious lefts and rights.

Andrews' hands dropped and he sagged into the ropes helpless. Satterfield landed the right, and Andrews spun around, dropped over the middle strand and slipped through to the apron of the ring. Referee Lou Scozza counted him out there.

Satterfield weighed 186, Andrews 135½.

A crowd of better than 6,000 paid an estimated gross of $17,000 to watch the Memorial Auditorium scrap.

In the eighth, Andrews' best round, Paul appeared to miss a fine chance for a knockout of his own. He rocked Satterfield with a right to the side of the jaw and Bob's arms dropped to his sides as he backed into the ropes. But Andrews failed to follow through and Satterfield weathered the round.

Cathedral Is Dropped By 58-55

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Member

Seward Concordia High used a full-court press defense to good advantage Tuesday night and beat Lincoln Cathedral, 58-55.

Concordia overcame a 17-point lead using the tight press on the small Everett Junior High floor. Cathedral had a 27-10 lead early in the second quarter.

But the visitors sneaked up to within three points at half time, 35-32,, and went on to win when Bob Petersen scorde 16 points in the second half.

Cathedral, shooting for its second consecutive victory in two starts, seemed to have achieved that goal when Jim Cripe, George Easley and Gene Kobza accounted for 19 of 21 points in the first quarter.

Easley made three nifty baskets in a row to push the Bluebirds ahead 27-10.

Then came the press.

Loel Haak hit four baskets to spark Concordia on a comeback and the teams left the floor at halftime with Cathedral's lead cut to three points.

The ball-hawking Concordians kept it up through the third quarter and tool the lead twice, only to have it wrested from them on shots by Easley and Kobza.

Kobza's field goal made it 43-42 Cathedral at the end of the third quarter.

Petersen shot Concordia into the lead with three straight baskets. Cathedral countered on a pair of shots by Cripe. Cripe hit a free throw with 3:15 left to put Cathedral ahead 51-50.

Th Concordia press broke through again and Haak put his team ahead for good with a jump shot from the free throw lane. John Suhr and Petersen were good for four free throws and the score was 56-51.

Calncy Woolman and Gene Kobza brought the Bluebirds back into the game with field goals, and Cathedral missed a last chance to win when a jump ball went out of bounds. Petersen made two free throws after the final gun.

Petersen had 22 points and Haak 21 for the winners. Easley had 18, Cripe 14 and Kobza 13 for Cathedral.

Sioux City Five Whips Plainsmen

SIOUX CITY, Ia. — Morningside College took advantage of a Nebraska Wesleyan defensive letdown early in the second half and rallied to stomp the Plainsmen, 92-74 for Wesleyan's third straight defeat of the season.

The Plainsmen came back in the first minutes of the third quarter to forge ahead 38-34.

Then Morningside moved in and caught the Plainsmen off guard. Within four minutes the Iowans had dropped in 14 points to move ahead 48-38.

From then on Morningside coasted past the bewildered Wesleyan team. The game moved back to a slow pace and Wesleyan tried to rally but found it impossible because of the tight defensive play by Morningside.

The Plainsmen's next game will be their first home appearance Saturday night against Dakota Wesleyan.

Majors Reject Minimum, Winter Play Proposals

CHICAGO (AP) — The major leagues Monday rejected most of the players' requests, including a $7,200 minimum, unrestricted winter ball play, a check on number of bonus players and the right to be informed of negotiations for future radio-TV World Series contracts.

The majors, however, did agree to pay the players "outside" spring training expenses.

Both leagues agreed to permit players to report prior to March 1 spring training deadline if they desire and continued the March 10 deadline on the first exhibition game.

As expected, the majors turned thumbs down on the minors' request for radio-TV restrictions into minor league territory. They also failed to pass a change in the national defense rule that would have cut a returning serviceman's exemption from counting on the player limit from one year to 30 days.

This was defeated but it had been passed by the minors.

Such controversial proposals as changes in the bonus rule, unrestricted draft and restrictions on the playing rules committee were not considered because they already had been defeated by the minors.

Another suggestion for an interleague schedule with games counting in the standings was withdrawn.

Changes in the method of putting players on the disabled list and a suggestion to permit bonus players to be optioned out to the minors but still count under the player limit, were defeated.

A proposal for two free-trading days in July and August after the June 15 deadline was withdrawn.

The two leagues vited to permit a player to accept more than a 25 per cent salary cut if the player consents. Such a request must be received by the commissioner prior to Jan. 10.

Both leagues turned down a proposal to permit exhibition games during the All-Star Game interval. The leagues were split on this matter and Commissioner Ford Frick cast the decisive vote against it.

The National League went on record as commending Walter O'Malley, Brooklyn Dodger president, for his efforts to set up a major league TV Game of the Week with a share of the proceeds to go to the minor leagues. Although a proposal to work with the minors on this O'Malley project was rejected by both leagues as written by the minors, the National League gave out a special statement from Dave Grote, director of the league's service bureau:

"The National League clubs ask Walter O'Malley, Brooklyn president, to continue his efforts for a plan to use income from a major league televised Game of the Week to aid the minor leagues. All National League clubs were wholeheartedly in favor of Mr. O'Malley's efforts to date, and all expressed a desire for him to continue his attempts to effect a TV Game of the Week on a major network."

Cubs Trade Jackson To Brooklyn

...Get Hoak, Moryn

CHICAGO (INS) — The Chicago Cubs broke the player-deal famine which has gripped the major league meeting by announcing Tuesday that they had traded star third baseman Ransom Jackson to the Brooklyn Dodgers for third baseman Don Hoak and outfielder Walter Moryn.

Simultaneously, Cubs Personnel Head Wid Matthews said his team had asked for waivers on veteran catcher Walker Cooper as a preparatory move to granting him his unconditional release.

Matthews added that another big deal is pending with the World Championship Dodgers but added details will not be announced until next week.

Jackson hit for .265 last season, clouting 21 home runs and batting in 70 runs.

Hoak batted .240 and drive in 35 runs. Moryn, a youngster who saw only limited service, hit for .263 in 11 games.

The Cubs-Dodgers deal was the first announced by the majors since the St. Louis Cardinals bought Boston relief hurler Ellis Kinder for about $10,000 on the eve of the meeting.

Jackson, 29, came up to the Cubs from their Springfield, Mass., International League club in 1950. He won a regular's status his first year and enjoyed his best batting season in 1953 when he hit for .285.

Other possible trades still were being discussed by the Milwaukee Braves, the Cubs and the Chicago White Sox.

Dons Voted Cage 'Best' In 1st Poll

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

The University of San Francisco, voted the No. 1 college team in the first Associated Press nationwide poll of the new season, will have a good chance to prove the point against top-flight opposition before the month of December ends.

Coach Phil Woolpert's Dons used early season tournament play to gain the support of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters a year ago. Now San Francisco is ready to embark on a swing into the Midwest, South and East that will just about tell whether the No. 1 team of last season is likely to make it stick again.

63 Firsts

With 110 ballots cast, the Dons received a thumping 63 first-place votes. On the basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, etc., San Francisco piled up 1,023 points to lead Kentucky, with seven firsts and 847 points.

San Francisco, winner of the NCAA championship tournament over LaSalle last spring, has two tournaments in the next three weeks. The Dons are in the DePaul Invitation at Chicago along with Duquesne, Marquette and DePaul Dec. 16-17. Duquesne was ranked No. 9 in the initial poll.

After games with Wichita, and Loyola of New Orleans, San Francisco moves into New York, Madison Square Garden for the Dec. 26-30 Holiday Festival. The opposition consists of Fordham, Syracuse, LaSalle, St. John's of Brooklyn, Duquesne, UCLA, and Holy Cross.

The Dons are riding on a 28-game winning streak, 26 left over from last season, when Kentucky ruled as No. 1 for seven straight weeks until the Wildcats dropped a second game to Georgia Tech.

St. Bon's Snaps Rambler Streak

COLUMBUS — St. Bonaventure snapped the 23-game winning streak of Omaha Holy Name as they whipped the Ramblers, 49-45 here.

With one minute left in the last quarter Holy Name tied up the score 45-45, but Daylor Seefeyk and Don Noonan each potted a basket to trip the Ramblers. Noonan was high man for St. Bonaventure with 17.

Jim Daley paced the losing team with 21 points.

Reimers Only LH Winner In Meet

OMAHA — Omaha South wrestlers, winners of the Omaha North Invitational last week, beat Lincoln High, 44-3 in a dual meet here Tuesday.

Mark Reimers, 165-pounder, won Lincoln's only points. He decisioned Nick Chiburis.

Lincoln High's next meet is at Fremont Friday.

Michigan State is the only Big Ten institution to win Rose Bowl bids twice within a three year period.

Big Whitetails

James Purcell and his son, James Jr., of 3278 Holdrege St., bagged two whitetail deer north of Crawford. The deer weighed nearly 200 pounds apiece. Purcell said the hunting this year was the best he had ever seen. (Star Photo.)

Top Running Team To Hit Best Defense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Oklahoma and Maryland meet in the Orange Bowl, Jan. 2, it will be the nation's leading running team against the team with the nation's tightest defense against rushing.

The statistics read like Chapter Two of an old, familiar story because the same teams held the same titles when they clashed in the same place two years ago. That time Oklahoma proved it was pretty good on defense, too, by winning 7-0.

The Sooners, in fact, have showed a remarkable mastery of the ground game—in both directions—during a 10-year period in which they have been one of the nation's top teams.

Final NCAA Service Bureau statistics for the 1955 season revealed Tuesday that Oklahoma was among the top 10 in rushing offense for the 10th straight year and in the top 10 in rushing defense for the fifth time in 10 years. The over-all figures for that period show Oklahoma on top in both departments.

The top 10 teams of 1955:

Soph's 108-Yd. Runback Top Grid 'Spectacular'

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.
The Associated Press

At 1:30 p.m., Nov. 5, 1955, a 19-year - old University of Pennsylvania sophomore took his place near the goal line at Franklin Field to wait for Notre Dame to kick off. He probably was feeling a bit jittery about making his first start in a varsity game before the season's biggest crowd and against one of the nation's strongest college teams.

Some 20 seconds later, Frank Riepl was in the other end zone being pummeled and hugged by his teammates while more than 45,000 fans roared acclaim. Tuesday his 108-yard runback of the opening kickoff was hailed by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters as the most spectacular incident of the 1955 football season.

Stuns Press Box

Riepl had to retreat deep into Penn's end zone to retrieve the booming Notre Dame kickoff. In the press box someone remarked, "Why doesn't that diot put it down and take the touchback? Does he want to get hurt?"—then snapped to attention as the crowd broke into a clamor.

The youngster from South River, N.J., started straight up the middle behind the kind of blocking that wiped out Notre Dame tacklers before they got near him. Before he reached the 35-yard line he was clear of the pack, veered toward the right sideline and headed for the corner, outdistancing a couple of pursuers. It was all done so smoothly that Penn's press box crew had to phone the bench to find out who had thrown the important blocks.

108-Yard Run

The 108-yard run probably was a record for returning a Notre Dame kickoff. Certainly no one in recent years has gone so far against the Irish without being touched.

The vote in favor of Riepl's run as the most spectacular incident was overwhelming. Forty-five of 149 sports writers and broadcasters replying to The Associated Press post - season questionnaire listed it. Michigan's last - quarter splurge to beat Iowa was chosen by 22 experts. The stirring finish of the UCLA-Washington game was named by nine, Oklahoma's victory over Colorado after a tough first half, by six, and Illinois' spectacular win over Michigan by five.

33 "Spectaculars"

In all, 33 different games or plays were mentioned by the experts as being the "most spectacular."

Michigan's rally against Iowa certainly deserved that word. With only nine minutes to go, Iowa, which hadn't beaten Michigan since 1924, held a 21-13 lead. Then Jim Maddock, an icy-nerved quarterback, fired a pass to injured Ron Kramer for 65 yards and a touchdown. Five minutes later another Maddock pass went to Tom Maentz for 60 yards and another score. Then, in the dying minutes, Tony Branoff broke away for 30 yards and a final touchdown.

Roland Perdue, captain of the North Carolina football team, is a pre-ministerial student.

Ezzard Batters Hall For Decision

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Veteran Ezzard Charles reversed a three-week-old defeat Tuesday, taking command from the start and pounding out a convincing, unanimous decision over Toxie Hall, in a heavyweight 10-rounder.

A crowd of 3,779 paid a gross of $13,436 to see Charles, 197½, of Cincinnati, completely dominate the match over Hall, 191½-pound Chicagoan. Hall won a split verdict over Charles in Providence Nov. 14.

Referee Al Berle voted 6-3-1 and Judge Ted Shiels balloted 8-0-2. Judge Leon Stachwiak saw it 6-2-2. The AP gave Charles a 10-0 sweep.

There were no knockdowns, but it was a stiff-punching, fast-action fight all the way. Charles showed little respect for the 25-year-old who hurt him in the opening round of their Providence bout. Even in the closing rounds, as Hall's cornermen shouted for a rally, Charles was still the aggressor.

In the better exchanges, Hall was forced to give ground as Charles hammered the Chicagoan with left hands for most of the first seven rounds, and then banged him crisply with both hands in the last three.

Entire Baseball World Pays Tribute To Wagner

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Time ran out for Honus Wagner Tuesday, and the baseball world mourned one of its all-time great stars.

The bandy-legged, broad-shouldered Honus died quietly in his sleep at the modest home in suburban Carnegie where he had been confined for months by the illnesses of old age. He was 81.

Funeral services will be held here at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

Tuesday night, as the first of the baseball faithful and his legion of friends began filing past his bier, expressions of tribute and regret at Wagner's passing came from many of the newer generation of the sport.

"Great Credit"

Wagner "always was a great credit to baseball," said Commissioner Ford Frick.

"His feats will live forever. His death is a great loss to the game."

The great Pittsburgh Pirate shortstop indeed had left his mark on the sport that was his love and all his life. Still written in the records books are many of his accomplishments, likely to stand for years or maybe so long as baseball is played.

Honus, who ended his career as a major league player in 1917, was one of the first choices for the sport's Hall of Fame 19 years later.

Wrote Record Book

Playing in the era of a "dead" ball and great pitchers who threw spitballs, "shine" balls and other deliveries now barred, he led the National League in batting eight years, compiled a lifetime .329 average and never fell below the .300 mark in 17 successive seasons.

He played 100 or more games for 19 years in succession, owns league records with 2,785 games, 10,427 times at bat, 1,740 runs scored, 3,430 base hits, 4,888 total bases.

Afield, his bowed legs churned up astonishing speed as he stole 720 bases and speared countless batted balls. His huge hands seemed to become almost a target for balls hit toward his defensive position. His throwing arm fired the ball like a rifle shot toward his target.

New testimony to his prowess came late Tuesday from another baseball immortal, and one of Honus' playing-day rivals.

"The Greatest"

"Honus Wagner was the greatest ball player I ever knew," said Ty Cobb.

"He was a fine competitor and a true gentleman. It was Wagner who helped establish the real foundations of baseball. I'm shocked at his death. I'll miss him terribly, and his family has my deepest sympathy."

His playing days were long behind Wagner when the end came. He had not appeared in public since last April 30 when a bronze statue in his honor was unveiled in Schenley Park.

The statue shows Honus in batting pose, wearing the characteristic baseball uniform of the first decade of the century. He is finishing a swing, and his eyes seem to be following the ball into nearby Forbes Field, home of the Pittsburgh Pirates, the team for which he played from 1900 through 1917.

"Flying Dutchman"

John Peter Wagner was born in suburban Carnegie, and lived there all his life. Often during his playing days he would ride a trolley home from Forbes Field, chatting amiably about the game with anyone who happened to be aboard.

Wagner got the nickname "Honus" as a shortened form of the German Johann for John. It stuck with him all his life. His speed earned the nickname: "The Flying Dutchman." And he had another nickname, too, a natural: "Old Bowlegs."

Boy Coal-Miner

Honus worked in coal mines as a boy before he began earning his living in baseball. From 1895 until the last days of his life, he lived in the world of the only sport that really counted.

After Honus' playing days ended, he dabbled in business, owning a small interest in a chain of sporting goods stores. But his baseball salaries had been tiny by today's standards—a top of $10,000 a year in 1908. In 1933, Bill Benswanger, who had succeeded Barney Dreyfuss as president of the Pirates, brought Honus back as a coach.

Baker Favored Over Valdes In TV Bout

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Baker and Nino Valdes, second and third-ranked heavyweight contenders, meet here tonight in a nationally televised 10-round scrap at the Arena. Their incentive is the chance of getting a match with Rocky Marciano for the heavyweight crown next year.

Their managers report Baker will weigh in today at about 211 and Valdes at about 207. Baker has been as high as 230 pounds for a fight in the past year, and Valdes has been up to 216.

Both boxers have been shedding excess poundage to get in shape for the contest, which headlines the annual Christmas Fund boxing show of the Cleveland News.

Baker Favored

Baker, ranked second behind Archie Moore, is considered the favorite. He has won his last 13 matches and, a year ago, took a split decision from Valdes. Baker hails from Pittsburgh and Valdes is a Cuban.

The bout will be televised at 9 p.m., CST on the ABC network.

Dusty Bettor, manager of Baker, and Bobby Gleason, manager of his opponent, raised a clamor Monday that a rule advocated by the National Boxing Assn. be suspended for this fight. The rule specifies that if a boxer is knocked down three times in one round, the fight shall end as a technical knockout on the third knockdown.

Referee Sole Judge

David Ott, chairman of the Cleveland Boxing Commission, went along with this idea, emphasizing that the referee shall be the sole judge if whether a fight should be stopped.

But he made it clear that the issue was academic, as the three-knockdown rule "never has applied here."

In local fights the decision is reached by the referee and two judges. Each keeps a score card. The winner of a round gets 10 points and the loser nine or less. The referee, at his discretion, may declare a round forfeited because of a foul.

30 Straight Victories

The 10-round semifinal will feature Eduardo Lausse, third-ranking contender in the middleweight class. The Buenos Aires bixer is matched with John L. Sullivan of England, who will be out to put an end to a string of 30 victories by Lausse.

Going for eight rounds will be Orlando Zulueta of Havana, ranked as eighth contender in the lightweight division, against Walter Brown of Baltimore.

5 Uclans Picked By PCC Coaches

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five UCLA players were named today on the All-Pacific Coast Conference football team chosen by the circuit's nine coaches.

Conference Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt, who announced the team at the PCC winter meeting, said Jon Arnett, Southern California halfback, was the only unanimous choice.

The five Bruins chosen are Rommie Loudd, end; Hardimen Cureton, guard; Steve Palmer, center, and Sam Brown and Bob Davenport, backs.

USC landed three players and Stanford two. The Trojans honored along with Arnett are Leon Clarke, end, and Orlando Ferrante, guard. The Indians are Paul Wiggin, All-America tackle, and Bill Tarr, back. The 11th man is Fred Robinson, Washington tackle.

NORFOLK, Neb.—Funeral services for Dr. Frank Gillespie, 66, retired Norfolk optometrist, will be held in Los Angeles Friday. He was killed in a one-car accident near Evanston, Wyo., while en route to the west coast.

His car skidded on the ice and sailed through the air 88 feet before landing in a snowbank, the Wyoming State Patrol reported.

Born in Gretna, he was educated at Creighton University and served in the Navy in World War I. He and his brother, the late Dr. John Gillespie, operated a jewelry store and optical company at Randolph for a number of years before moving to Norfolk in 1935.

After his retirement, Dr. Gillespie traveled extensively, twice making trips to Europe. He was a member of the Norfolk American Legion post and Sacred Heart Council, Knights of Columbus.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Mary Daley, Miss Pearl Gillespie and Mrs. Margaret Kourtney, all of Los Angeles, and two brothers, Dr. Joseph T. Gillespie of Norfolk and Dr. Edward Gillespie of Los Angeles.

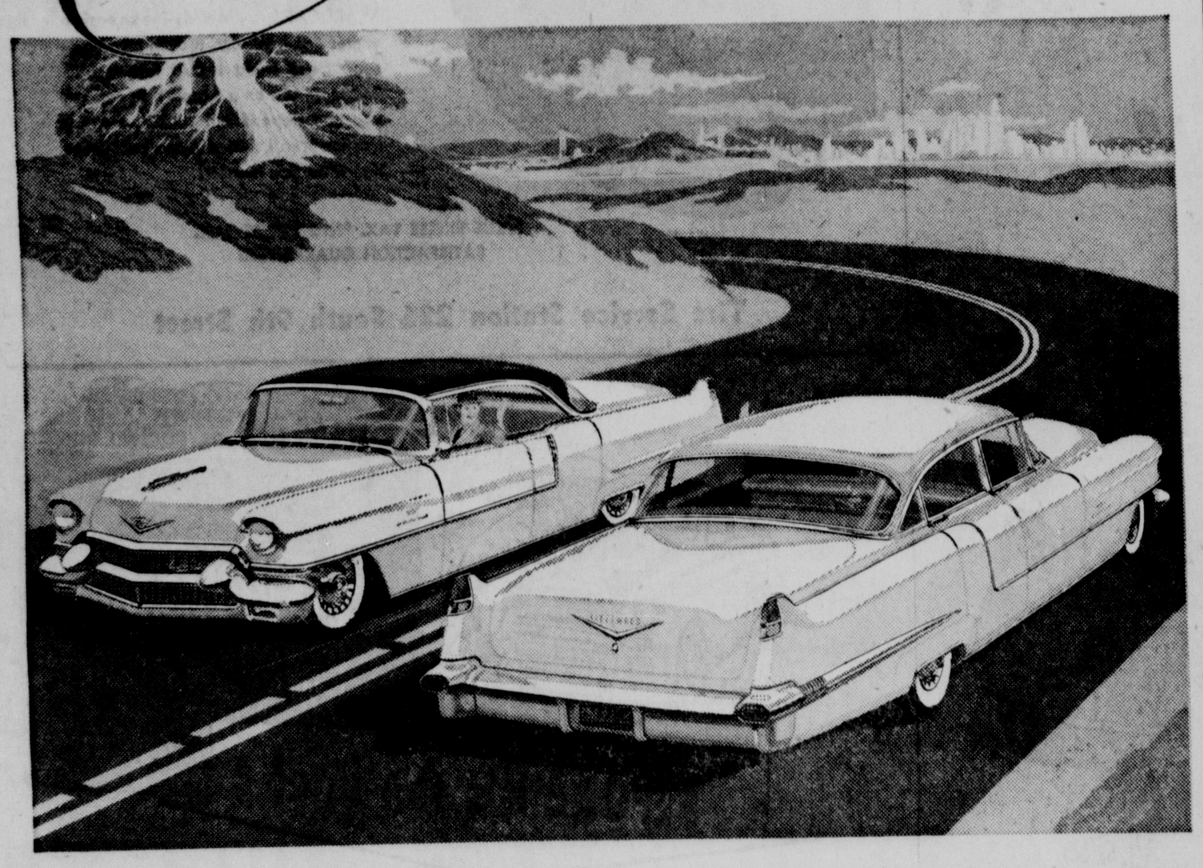
Cadillac



Strangers—with a Mutual Friend!

Anyone who owns and drives a Cadillac will find this a familiar scene.

For it is not at all unusual for Cadillac owners to salute one another as they pass on the highway . . . or to exchange approving nods as they wait at the traffic light.

Cadillac owners, you see, know that they have at least one mutual friend . . . in the Cadillac car.

And the chances are that if they were to meet, they would find they had a great deal more in common than just their affection for the "car of cars."

For Cadillac owners, taking them by and large, are people who share a keen appreciation for the finer things in life.

And, generally speaking, they are people of sound judgment and unusual practical wisdom.

They have learned, for instance, how reasonable a new Cadillac can be insofar as original cost is concerned.

They have seen for themselves how economical a Cadillac is to operate through the miles . . . and how dependable it is through the months.

And they have savored that final reward for choosing the "car of cars"—Cadillac's extraordinary resale value.

Perhaps, in view of these remarkable facts, the time has come for you to meet this wonderful friend of America's most demanding motorists.

We'll be delighted to introduce you at any time you find convenient—and to supervise a personal demonstration on the highway.

Why not come in today?

Group Formed To Aid Cattle Industry

Keeping Feed On Farm One Of Main Aims

BROKEN BOW, Neb. (AP)—County agents from Custer, Wheeler, Howard, Valley and Sherman counties have organized a new association designed to aid the cattle industry.

The organization, to be known as the Loup Basin Livestock Assn. results from sentiment expressed at a recent Extension Service planning conference in Lincoln for an organization to push cattle feeding and livestock health and in general boost the cattle industry and keep feed on the farm.

Agents from these counties said they felt that more can be done in livestock research and utilization of feed and manure, as 75 per cent of the income.

The association would be made up of smaller groups within each of these counties and possibly in Garfield County. Each of these county groups would foster programs in its own county.

The over-all association probably would meet four times a year.

One of the main objectives of the new organization will be to encourage the feeding of livestock on the farm, so that crop farmers, with more irrigation coming into use all the time, won't be forced to purchase their fertilizer but will be able to use at least some manure for fertility purposes.

County organizations will be formed soon and a committee will be named to draw up a constitution and by-laws.

20 States Pass Watershed Laws This Year Says Crosby

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Watershed Congress Tuesday heard explanations of recent legislation in various states giving different groups legal authority to participate with the federal government in watershed protection programs.

Former Gov. Robert Crosby of Nebraska said 20 state legislatures have passed new or amendatory legislation this year. These laws made possible closer co-operation among state and local agencies and the secretary of agriculture in setting up watershed plans.

Under the federal government's program, begun in 1954, local or state organizations must have authority under state law to carry out, maintain and operate watershed projects.

Steps Outlined

Crosby said that to gain federal assistance in watershed programs state or local organizations must have:

Legal authority and the financial ability to arrange for cost-sharing, rights-of-way; to maintain and operate works of improvement, acquire water rights and obtain agreements from landowners for recommended land treatment measures.

The watershed congress is sponsored by 25 business, labor, industrial, agricultural, conservation and planning organizations. It serves as a clearing house for the exchange of ideas on the best ways to advance the program of watershed developments throughout the country.

More than 300 persons are attending the Congress which concluded a 2-day meeting Tuesday.

Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aid, told the congress he hopes the administration will have a national water policy ready for Congress next year.

Research Center Reports 'Rational Approach To Cancer Control' Is At Hand

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the nation's great research centers said Tuesday "there seems now to be good reason to believe that we have a rational approach to cancer control."

The announcement came in a two-year report by the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research.

Dr. C. P. Rhoads, director of the institute, called the new approach "one which if vigorously and intensively pursued should lead us forward toward our goal."

The report said basic studies have uncovered evidence that every kind of cell has certain peculiar chemical requirements. Scientists at the institute have discovered the actual differences in chemical needs of several kinds of human cancers.

Requirement

Investigators hope, by alternating or withholding certain chemical requirements, to injure or completely destroy cancerous cells. The report said it is already possible—under laboratory conditions—routinely to kill some kinds of animal cancer without injuring closely related normal cells. However, chemicals that cure mouse or rat cancer will not necessarily kill human cancer.

The institute also reported on smoking in relation to cancer as follows:

"Most important perhaps is the new statistical evidence that the greater frequency of lung cancer in urban population is associated with greater tobacco use.

"Very outstanding are new statistical data connecting cancer of the larynx (voice box) with heavy smoking. In contrast to lung cancer, however, which seems to be causally related to the inhalation of cigarette smoke, larynx cancer is a factor of any type of tobacco smoke.

Boosts Tendency

"The inordinate use of alcohol increases the tendency for heavy smokers to develop larynx cancer."

The Tobacco Industry Research Committee, set up by the tobacco industry, commented that the smoking portion of the report was a "repetition of points of view previously publicized."

It said the specific cause of lung or any other kind of human cancer has not been discovered and widespread research still is needed.

Interruption

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Evidence that it may be possible to interrupt cancer with chemicals and perhaps wipe it out of the body was submitted to a meeting of doctors in Los Angeles Tuesday.

Dr. Russell T. Jordan of the City of Hope Medical Center reported that some children dying of leukemia (cancer of the blood) made sudden temporary recoveries when stricken with influenza in the late stages of leukemia.

Speaking before the postgraduate meeting of the American Society of Chest Surgeons, Dr. Jordan said:

"This suggests that leukemia is reversible and that children who get it in its acute form don't have to die."

Dr. Jordan emphasized, however, that it has not been determined why the leukemia victim gets better when he contracts influenza.

"If we knew the mechanics of this reaction, and could control it," he said, "we undoubtedly could cure some leukemia cases."

Beck Tire Co. To Expand Operations

Plans of the Chris Beck Tire and Rubber Co. to expand operations at a new location were announced Tuesday by Chris Beck. The new location will be announced soon.

Beck said the firm found it necessary to seek a new location because lack of floor space prevented expansion at the present building at 1200 P. In addition to present services and auto accessories business, the expansion plans call for a retreading department, parking space, and a pickup and delivery service for cars.

The company expects to be operating in its new location by April, 1956. The business will continue to be operated by Chris Beck, Willard Beck and Billy Beck.

A group of Lincoln men is buying two properties at the northeast corner of 12th and P for investment purposes. The transaction including the Beck corner and the Boomer Printing Co. building at 1210 P is expected to be completed shortly after Jan. 1. The Boomer firm will also acquire new quarters to better serve its needs.

No determination of future use of the site has been made by the purchasing group, a spokesman said. The corporation includes James Stuart, Clarence Swanson, John Campbell and Albert Spohnheimer.

Reject Urged

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) —The U.S., Britain, France and Turkey urged the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization to reject East Germany's bid for membership in UNESCO.

The four powers jointly submitted a resolution for consideration by the U.N. Economic and Social Council, proposing rejection of the East German membership application for UNESCO.

BONN (INS) — A Russian delegation began talks at the West German Foreign Office on the establishment of a Soviet Embassy in Bonn.

Patterson Resigns

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Gettysburg White House announced Tuesday that President Eisenhower has accepted the resignation of Morehead Patterson, the man he named to push peaceful use of atomic energy on an international scale.

Patterson submitted his resignation Nov. 30 along with a summary of what had been accomplished since he took the job Nov. 4, 1954. The President accepted the resignation in a letter, dated Dec. 3, which voice "my appreciation of the important contribution you have made in this vital field."

Eisenhower said he knew Patterson had undertaken the task "at great personal sacrifice." Patterson is with the American Machine and Foundry Co., New York.

Patterson's letter of resignation said he believes that after a year's effort, "we have reached what I believe is an important landmark" in the "vital aspect" of the President's atoms for peace program to which he was assigned.

After Some 54 Years Of Variety

Automobile License Plates Settle Down To Just One Size And One Shape

WASHINGTON (AP)—The automobile license plate finally is settling down after 54 carefree years in which it has come in all shapes and sizes.

A standardized, 6 by 12 inch plate, in which even the bolt holes are fixed down to 1-16th of an inch, has been agreed on by the 48 states, the District of Columbia, the provinces of Canada, Mexico and Puerto Rico.

The target date for its universal use: Oct. 1, 1957.

And why should license plates be standardized?

L. S. Harris, executive director of the American Assn. of Motor Vehicle Administrators, said Tuesday there are several advantages.

First, he said, it's a big help to manufacturers. Since they have had to serve a variety of plates—including Tennessee's, cut out in the shape of the state—they have tended to put brackets on any old way. In the future, the rear license plate probably will be slipped on from inside the trunk.

Second, it should help the police. They figure it will be easier to light, and better protected from mud.

Third, it should help motorists, Harris said, by being easier to install and, since it will be locked in the trunk, harder to steal.

Most manufacturers will begin by working on where to put the rear plate. That's because every member of the 65 organizations in the vehicle administrators' association has laws calling for rear plates. Only two-thirds of them require front plates, too.

No one knows whether the trend is toward one or toward two plates.

Look at New York.

Legally, it's a two plate state. Yet beginning with the war New York passed emergency legislation saying that this year we'll do with one. Each year it has passed similar emergency measures.

Sure, they know the war is over. But they also know they can save a half million dollars in materials if they don't make a front plate.

New York probably had the first license plates, back in 1901. In those days an automobilist went down, registered his car with the county clerk, got a number and went home and made his own license, usually out of leather and ordinary house numbers.

Not until around 1913 did states realize they had a potential mint here, and started making license plates to raise tax money.

Santa For Ninety Children Sergeant's Chosen Task

S. Sgt. Robert Ziegner of the Lincoln Air Force Base is planning to play Santa Claus to some 90 boys and girls this Christmas.

With the help of the Lincoln Cub Scouts, the Air Force cook hopes to clothe from head to toe the 90 parentless Korean children in a Korean orphanage that he helped to found.

The sergeant relates that in 1953, when stationed in Korea, he and five companions discovered 70 Korean children living in a cave—they'd been there two years—near Kunsan, Korea. The children, with an 18-year-old as leader, had been utilizing a garbage dump as a source of food.

"They were in rags, most of them barefoot," the sergeant says.

The Air Force non-com ran a raffle at the base there to get cash, and the men there built temporary shelters. And from America came donations of nearly a hundred thousand pounds of clothing and near a thousand dollars.

The personnel at Kunsan then succeeded in building six permanent-type structures to house the children, and those buildings now house the 90 parentless boys and girls for whom the sergeant is rounding up clothing for Christmas.

When the clothing is collected, the Lincoln Air Force Base has arranged to fly the clothing to the west coast for shipment to the Far East.

Partly because the sergeant is a local cubmaster, much of the local work in collecting the clothing will be done by local Cub Scouts, who will gather it at the Boys Club at the downtown YMCA.

Business Question Judge's Decision —Atty. Gen. Beck

Attorney General Clarence S. Beck said Tuesday that the question of what constitutes "transacting business in Nebraska" is a matter of judicial determination based on the particular facts and circumstances of each case.

The opinion was asked by State Tax Commissioner Fred A. Herrington.

No "Legislative definition" of the phrase is available, the opinion said.

In response to another question, Beck said that where a foreign corporation offers securities for sale in a neighboring state but does not actually make the offer in Nebraska even though sales are made to Nebraskans, this would not constitute an "offering for sale in Nebraska any of its securities." But if the foreign corporation had agents representing it and offering its products for sale in the state, this would constitute "transacting business" in the state.

3-6 Years Given In Robbery Case

Joe J. Cline, 35, has been sentenced to a three-to-six-year Reformatory term by the Lancaster District Court for the Nov. 5 robbery of the Keep-U-Neat Cleaners.

In pleading guilty Nov. 15 to the robbery, Cline admitted obtaining $34 by threat of violence from Mrs. Alice V. Talbott, who was a clerk in the 1515 O establishment.

Cline, from Ashland, Ky., had lived in Lincoln about a year. He was arrested at a downtown tavern shortly after the robbery.

Authorities said Cline also admitted robbery of City Cleaners, 1605 O, last Jan. 3 and the Western Union office in December, 1954.

Cline had only a juvenile record, according to authorities.

Mom, Kids Given Injury Judgments

The Lancaster District Court has entered three judgments totaling $7,000 in favor of a mother and her two children for injuries allegedly received in a two-car collision near Hallam last Christmas eve.

The judgments, stipulated by the parties, were $2,500 to the mother, Mrs. Doris Mays of Adams; $3,500 to Carol Sue Norton, 11, and $1,000 to Patricia Ann Mays, 4.

The suits were brought against Leo Clare of Cortland, the alleged driver of one car. The two children were passengers in the car driven by their mother.

The three suits were filed by Mrs. Mays on behalf of the children and herself.

Gas Mileage goes up AGAIN

And so does the thrill - with Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow!*

With all the big excitement of Buick's 1956 styling and power and ride and handling – it's easy to overlook this fact:

Gas mileage in the '56 Buicks takes a big step upward.

One reason, of course, is the new power plant itself.

Every new Buick cradles an advanced 322-cubic-inch V8 engine with the highest horsepowers, Series for Series, in all Buick history. Yet every engine delivers more efficiency, and more usable power to the rear wheels–because each one has a new double "Y" manifolding, and a new high in compression ratio.

But the major reason for the happy news in gas mileage–and for the new step-up in safety and thrills–is Buick's latest version of Variable Pitch Dynaflow.

In this airplane-principled transmission, you always had a gas-saving cruising range–and, at a switch of the pitch, a full-power getaway range.

Now Buick engineers have brought to this cruising range what they call "double regeneration." It simply means a new way to make flowing oil add to its own velocity to build up driving force.

So now, you merely nudge the pedal to part throttle and get new breakaway getaway. And since you get this quicker, safer response in your normal cruising range–where you don't use full power–you get plenty more miles from every tankful of gas.

But when you do need sudden safety-surge for emergencies, you just floor the pedal to switch the pitch. Instantly, you're at full-power acceleration–and it's the most thrilling safety measure in the land.

How about coming in to try the most modern transmission yet?

The absolute smoothness of this new Dynaflow is worth a visit in itself. So you can be sure you're in for a wealth of wonderful surprises–for that's just the start of the best Buick yet. Can you make it this week?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century–optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Get 4-Season Comfort in your new Buick with FRIGIDAIRE CONDITIONING —now at a new low price

FARMERS URGE FULL AG PARITY

...At Meeting

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—Full parity for agricultural products has been asked by a group of some 600 farmers from Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.

At a rally here sponsored by the Sioux City Raw Materials Council and the Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee, the farmers unanimously adopted a resolution declaring that farm prices now are at 82 per cent of parity, "clearly proving the failure of present policies."

The resolution requested the administration and both major political parties "to fulfill their promises to the American people to support farm prices at a minimum of 90 per cent of parity."

It urged that the administration instruct the Secretary of Agriculture "to immediately use the authority invested in him by farm legislation enacted by Congress and that he properly administer such legislation to provide 100 per cent of parity for agricultural products at the market place."

Rep. Hoeven (R-Iowa) addressed the meeting. He said that unless agriculture prospers the entire economy of the nation suffers.

"The farm problem is too big for partisan politics," he said.

Agnew PO Not To Close, Weaver Says

Congressman Phil Weaver (R-Neb) announced Wednesday that he has been advised by the Post Office Department that no action to discontinue the Agnew Post Office is contemplated at this time.

In November Weaver was informed that the Post Office at Agnew, 17 miles northwest of Lincoln, could "properly" be discontinued. Service would be provided instead by rural carrier from Valparaiso.

Many residents in the area had protested the move and appealed to Weaver for help in keeping the office.

Agnew Postmaster G. C. Dudek has reported that the Post Office receives about 40 of 50 letters each morning and about 10 at night. He said the annual revenue is between $325 and $400.

The Agnew Post Office has been open for about 70 years and has 20 subscribers. Dudek said an attempt was made about a year and a half ago to close the Post Office.

Schoolboy Admits Threatening Wife Of Gov. Williams

LANSING, Mich. (INS)—A 14-year-old Lansing schoolboy Tuesday admitted making threatening telephone calls to Mrs. Nancy Williams, wife of Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

The boy was taken into custody at his classroom in Lansing's St. Casmir's School. He was not identified because of his age.

He was released to his parents and police said they did not think he would be prosecuted.

A heavy state police guard has been maintained around the governor's residence since the threats were received Nov. 26.

STANTON DELAPLANE

POSTCARD

Nothing appeals to the English like tradition. If the Earl of Waxwing slipped and tripped over the King's robe in the time of Edward the Confessor, then every year, the present Earl must come and slip and trip over the King.

The Tower of London is full of odd things that are paid as rent: a dozen hammered horseshoe nails. Enough battle axes to provide a company of ax men. Dukes pay off the ancestral home with a snowball from Scotland or a red rose. All because "that was the w'y it 'appened, sir."

"Now, if you was to come to my 'ome in the north, sir," said the barman in The Swan at Tunbridge Wells, "you would be able to write of 'ow they p'y the cattle crossing.

"The people thereabout used to cross their cattle on the Earl's estate, do you see? And for the privilege they p'yd sixpense a year. So on the first d'y of spring, they come from all around and the Earl, 'e rides up and the people fling their sixpence on the great stone and cry out: 'Tun money.' "

"Why do they say that?"

"Because that's the w'y they always cried it, sir," said the barman. "It's just the w'y they done it and no changes."

"What else do they do?"

"Why then they all goes down to the village ... To the pub, sir, the one called 'The Brown Cow' ... and they drink rum and milk. The Earl, 'e toasts them. And they toast 'im. Then they present 'im with a white cow with pink eyes."

"And then the cattle cross the estate?"

"Cor, no," said the barman. "There 'hasn't been cattle around there for 200 years. It's a weaving town. But there used to be cattle."

☆ ☆ ☆

There was a lady in The Swan. English pubs have several divisions. I have never figured out whether they were social or what. The bar itself stands in the center with polished brass beer pumps and the bottles of whiskey in racks, upside down. The whiskey is drawn from them with a spigot.

There is the public bar side, the private bar and the saloon bar. We were in the saloon bar and the lady was drinking a dark ale. She said her late husband had been a Beefeater.

"You've seen them at the Tower of London? The men in the red coats and ruffles who guard the Crown jewels?

"One of them is chosen each year to carry the Maundy money. My husband had the job in the time of the late King George."

"Maundy money?"

"The money the King or Queen gives, as the case may be, on Maundry Thursday. It's the Thursday before Easter, isn't it?"

"Cor," said the barman, "I can't keep track of 'em all."

"Anyway" said the lady, "they bring in paupers according to the monarch's age and they give each one gold crowns—or perhaps it's gold shillings. One for each year of the King's age.

"Well, now, when my husband bore the Maundy money—it's born on a golden tray at Westminster Abbey—the King was 50 years. So there were 50 paupers and 50 gold pieces for each of them.

"'I don't know how I'm to do it,' he told me. 'For I'm not the one for lifting as when I was young and the tray'll fair break my head.' He was in the Guards for years but retired then," said the lady.

"And what happened to him?"

"You know the flat red hats the Beefeaters wear? I stuffed it with mops," said the lady. "Household mops. I stuffed it good and it made a cushion. The other Beefeaters lifted it onto his head and he told me afterward he swayed so they thought he'd never make it.

"But he came down the aisles, straight as an arrow. For he couldn't bend an inch do you see or he'd go topheavy and splash would go the money over the floor. His only bad time was when he had to get it off his head. But he managed somehow and the King gave out the money."

"Cor," said the barman, "it sound liks a cruel custom."

Annexation May Bring New Debts To School Board

OMAHA (AP)—The Omaha School Board is learning that annexation may not always be all take and no give.

The board has learned that if Omaha annexes suburban School Districts 4, 38 and 64 as proposed the board might "inherit" a debt of $320,000, representing past bond issues voted by the districts for construction.

District 4 owes $150,000, District 38 has $130,000 debt and District 64 has $40,000.

Lone, Lean Looter Pilfers Pork, Pickles

A lone, lean looter had a particular passion for pork and pickles which he pointedly purloined on a looting lark at the Lincoln Hotel.

Police said the hotel was entered through a window reached by a fire escape into the storeroom at the hotel. A window and a lock and hasp were broken to gain entrance to the room.

The missing items: A fifth of cherry wine, taken from the chef's desk, and valued at $1.25; a canned ham, valued at $8.

A desk was ransacked, and the pork and pickle sanswiches made and eaten on the spot.

Damage to the window, lock and hasp was set at $4.50.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

FOUR ROSES BOURBON

Only a few short weeks ago, FOUR ROSES introduced this magnificent bourbon.

Bourbon drinkers agree, it is the finest by far. For it's more than a single, fine bourbon. It is a combination of several great bourbons. Each contributes its own virtue of aroma, body, smoothness and flavor.

So what could be a finer gift this Christmas for all your bourbon-drinking friends than this great new favorite—FOUR ROSES BOURBON?

Available in the regular bottle (4/5 quart) with attractive gift carton—or in the Four Roses quart gift decanter, the finest ever fashioned.

Either way, you'll be thanked for giving the best bourbon there is!

Four Roses blended whiskey also available at your dealer's.

Stock Mart Loses Some Early Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—Late selling spelled trouble for the stock market Tuesday, and it was able to hold to only a shred of its early advantage.

Steels, motors and oils were in the forefront of the early advance, but at the close motors were lower and the other two divisions were mixed.

In the late afternoon a rally in aircrafts sent them ahead strongly. The rise came while budget planners in Gettysburg and Washington were stressing defense spending as a major budget item.

All gains, however, were cut back by profit taking. The rise at the finish amounted to $1 to $2 more while losses frequently went to $1 or beyond.

The day as a whole represented a minor development in the strong forward movement that has been going on since Oct. 11 when the market hit bottom in the Eisenhower heart attack reaction.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks measured the situation with a good degree of accuracy. Monday the average was up $1.00 at $181.50, equal to the old record high set Sept. 23, and at noon it added another 50 cents, but at the finish it was unchanged at $181.50.

Volume came to 2,540,000 shares against 2,440,000 shares traded Monday.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher on volume of 970,000 shares, compared with 1,200,000 Monday.

Wheat Moves Up; Other Grains Lose

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat continued to forge ahead on the Board of Trade Tuesday but it was the only grain so doing.

Other cereals firmed early and then ran into profit taking, finishing with a mixture of small gains and losses.

The trading pace slackened from the previous session.

Wheat closed ¼@1¼ higher, corn ½ lower to ⅛ higher, oats ⅝ lower to ⅝ higher and rye ¼ lower to ¼ higher.

Soybeans closed ½ lower to ¼ higher and lard 7 to 18 cents a hundred pounds lower.

In back of the upturn in old crop wheat futures was a continuing firm demand for the cash grain.

No. 2 hard wheat was quoted at a premium of 5 to 5½ cents over the price of the December future.

Lancaster Authorizes Appeal In Gas Tax Suit

The Lancaster County Board has authorized Co. Atty. Elmer Scheele to proceed with an appeal from the District Court decision in the Nebraska gas tax distribution suit.

Douglas County has already filed its intent to appeal to the State Supreme Court.

District Judge Harry Spencer ruled in the case that although former State Treasurer Frank Heintze had not distributed gas tax funds between 1950 and 1955 in accordance with law, the counties which claim they did not get their lawful share could not recover.

In recommending appeal, Scheele said the county should obtain a final determination as to whether or not Heintze acted in a "quasi-judicial" capacity and thus was not personally liable.

Scheele said the county treasurer makes distribution of the state allocation to the political subdivisions within the county.

He suggested that if the county treasurer is similarly immune because of "quasi-judicial" capacity, the amount of the county treasurer's bond might properly be reduced.

Distribution of the nearly $3 million deposited with the District Court will probably be made after Dec. 17 if no county takes exception to the order, Scheele said.

It is unlikely any county will supercede the judgment and tie up the funds, but the appeal will be taken on the questions of Heintze's liability, Scheele said.

Mackinac Work Halts

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP) — The Mackinac Bridge Authority said Tuesday winter weather virtually has halted the pouring of concrete for the foundation of the Straits of Mackinac Bridge. JOURNAL-STAR WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

'Improved Legislation Needed' To Carry Out Water Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The second annual National Watershed Congress called Tuesday for "improved legislation" to carry out water programs.

"Specifically, procedures should be less cumbersome, and cost sharing should be based on a more diverse group of benefits," said a committee report adopted at the concluding session of the congress.

developed criticism of the requiredeveloped ciriticism of the requirement calling for almost unanimous local approval of a watershed proposal, together with approval by various federal agencies.

Some speakers objected to cost-sharing features of the Agriculture Department's watershed protection program as "comparatively inequitable" in contrast to other federal programs.

They pointed out that while the government pays all costs of flood control features of large dams built by the Army Engineers, it requires an average 50-50 cost-sharing plan on watershed projects constructed in co-operation with local interests.

Stresses Conservation

The watershed approach to water problems stresses conservation work on the upper reaches of river valleys—efforts to keep and use water where it falls, rather than letting it run off as a waste to become a possible flood problem downstream.

The government's program under the 1954 Watershed Protection Act also was criticized for slowness in getting to construction. "Not a shovelful of earth has yet been turned" on any project, the report said.

It added, however, that planning work is under way, and that some 25 projects will be ready for submission to Congress early next year.

"Watershed associations are needed to bring divergent interests together in sane discussions of possible alternative solutions to water resource problems," it said.

But while it favored the establishment of such associations, the report also urged use of existing governmental units in developing watershed resources. "The multiplication of special (governmental) districts should be discouraged," it declared.

More than 300 persons attended the 2-day congress to exchange ideas on the best methods of promoting watershed developments throughout the nation. This year's meeting was sponsored by 25 national business, labor, agricultural, industrial and conservation organizations.

Eichberg Plans Temporary Leave

Governor Victor Anderson's administrative assistant, A. C. Eichberg, will take a temporary leave to attend to some private business.

The governor announced Tuesday that Eichberg will take an unpaid leave starting Dec. 15 to look after his business interests in Arkansas and Texas.

Anderson said "Ike" will not be replaced but will be gone long enough to take care of his cotton crop in Arkansas and harvest his citrus crop of oranges and grapefruit in Texas.

Eichberg also will assist his partner, Raymond Miller of Alamo, Texas, with shipments. Miller is president of the Citrus Fruit and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Assn. of Texas.
